Signs Auto Price Order

Voluntary Clamp On Prices, Wages Seen by Leaders

Request Would Roll Back Levels to December 1; Freeze on Meats Also May Result

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—A request that business and workers voluntarily freeze all prices and wages shaped up today as the government's probable next move in fighting the inflation fired by mounting defense spending.

Officials who asked not to be named said such a step was contemplated within a few days by Alan Valentine, head of the Economic Stabilization Authority.

As they outlined it, the request would be that business, unions and the public adhere voluntarily to the prices and wages which existed on Dec. 1 or some other recent date.

But further compulsory price controls appeared to be in the making, following up the rollback on new car prices which Valentine ordered over the week-end.

Meat industry officials were called in today to discuss prices, leading to speculation that ceilings may be clamped shortly on beef, veal and lamb. Those three meats are among the relatively few farm products now selling at prices higher than the ceiling which may be imposed under the economic controls law.

Sees Ceilings Difficult

There were indications, however, that these talks would be largely exploratory. E.S.A. still has little more than a token staff and there are so many producers in the meat industry that price ceilings would be relatively difficult to enforce.

Meanwhile, Charles E. Wilson prepared to take over as the overall boss of the nation's mibilization against possible new Communist aggression. Wilson is resigned as president of the General Electric Co. to direct the new agency.

President Truman established the Office of Defense Mobilization on Saturday shortly after issuing a formal declaration of national emergency. The declaration carried with it authority to do such things as lengthen work hours under government contracts, requisition ships and waive competitive bids on defense contracts.

As head of the new O.D.M., Wilson will be answerable only to Mr. Truman and will have full authority over civilian agencies already at work building up the nation's military might.

Effective Until March

The voluntary freeze on prices and wages which Valentine was reported studying would remain in effect only until March. By that time, E.S.A. expects to be ready to administer compulsory price controls, either on a selective basis or on the whole economy.

A violation of the proposed request would carry no penalty. But Mr. Truman said in his Friday night speech that any violations of the "fair standards" he said E.S.A. will announce would hasten mandatory controls and price rollbacks where they are justified.

The rollbacks of new automobile prices announced by ESA Saturday night were protested as unfair by General Motors and Ford, but they said they will comply. The law provides penalties if they don't.

The price ceilings—first since OPA died in 1946—apply only to new cars. Valentine ordered a ceiling until March 1 at the fac-

Car Prices Go Back Over Protest From Makers and Labor

Saturday Order Labeled 'Unfair'; Official Says Action Is Discrimination

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—Automobile prices will be rolled back on government order—but only over strong objections from both car makers and labor.

Both factions in the big auto industry have labeled "unfair" the Economic Stabilization Agency's Saturday order to push back car prices to the Dec. 1 level.

Nevertheless, General Motors Corp., the Ford Motor Co., and Nash Motors, three of the firms that boosted prices this month, said yesterday they would comply. GM's Cadillac division withdrew a scheduled price increase announcement.

There was no immediate word from Chrysler Corp., the other producer involved.

Other companies had announced their increases on 1951 models before Dec. 1.

'Taking Advantage'

One spokesman for the auto industry said of the rollback order: "They are taking advantage of the auto industry." A GM official called the move "patently discriminatory."

This view got staunch support from Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers and often a bitter foe of the auto producers' policies.

Reuther said he opposed "pinpoint price control that is discriminatory and does nothing to get to the basic causes of spiraling costs of living."

The UAW leader less than a fortnight ago had denounced as unjustified the price boosts announced by General Motors. They were the first in the most recent series of increases.

Warning Thrown Out

Reuther also threw out a warning that his union would fight to keep the cost-of-living escalator clauses in its contracts with auto makers. The union fears proposed wage controls would mean junking of that system, which moves up hourly pay as the government Bureau of Labor Statistics' cost-of-living scale mounts.

The whole involved question of auto industry wages and prices will be thrashed out starting Wednesday when the ESA wage

Philadelphia Police Hunt Sniper Who Kills One; 6 Hurt

Philadelphia, Dec. (AP)—Scores of police, working around the clock, today hunted a mysterious "mad" sniper who has killed one person and wounded six others in the city's residential Oak Lane section in the last six weeks.

The manhunt—described as the greatest in Philadelphia's history—began late Saturday night after a 28-year-old housewife was slain by a gunman police believe responsible for six other shootings in the area.

"There's no doubt a maniac is on the loose," said one police officer. "Only a madman could have committed these acts."

He admitted police had few clues to go on but said "we'll stay on the job until we get him."

Mrs. Claire Cohen, wife of a junior high school teacher and mother of two small children, was slain by a bullet fired through closed venetian blinds of a kitchen while she was washing dishes.

Police said the killer apparently fired from a terrace across the street from the house since the bullet entered the window, 12 feet above the ground, on a level plane.

They said the man must have seen dim shadows moving about behind the venetian blinds.

Last night, the dimly lighted Oak Lane area on the northwestern edge of the city, was a deserted region.

Residents of the modest, middle-class neighborhood, stayed inside while 130 policemen and 50 auxiliaries patrolled the streets. At least one policeman was assigned to each block of the area.

Few persons answered knocks on the door or ringing of the doorbell.

Mrs. Ann Fine, who answered the doorbell after repeated rings,

Leaders See Feelings as Acheson Aid

American Psychology Is Counted Upon by Top Democratic Senators; Truman Determined

Vinson Is Named

Talk Is President May Ask Vinson to Assume Job to Hush G.O.P.

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Democratic leaders counted today on American sympathy for the underdog in attempts to rally support for Secretary of State Acheson in the face of formal G.O.P. demands for his ouster.

Two influential democratic Senators who didn't want to be quoted by name told reporters they think public reaction to the Republican stand may help solidify support of Acheson if he stays on.

One high administration authority who asked not to be named said President Truman is "absolutely determined" to stick by Acheson and has no intention of yielding to the Republican groups in both the Senate and the House which voted last Friday their belief that Acheson has lost the confidence of the country and should be replaced.

On the other hand, there were reports circulating in Congress of a possible triple-play move by President Truman to quiet the G.O.P. oppostion.

Vinson Is Topic

These reports—and they weren't vouched for by anyone in authority—were to the effect that if Acheson quits Mr. Truman might ask Chief Justice Fred Vinson to leave the Supreme Court and take over the state portfolio.

If this happened, it was said Attorney General McGrath might be in line for a court appointment and Clark Clifford, former Presidential legal adviser now in private practice here, for attorney general.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) suggested yesterday the first of these moves. He called Vinson a Democrat "who would command the complete confidence of Congress and the country in an attempt to rehabilitate the tragic situation which we face."

Some of the Republicans calling for Acheson's ouster took the position that he should have been replaced before his departure yesterday for the Atlantic Treaty Foreign Ministers' meetings at Brussels.

Travels to Brussels

Acheson took off on schedule in the President's plane, "the Independence." Mr. Truman, who frequently sees his secretary of state off on such trips, was out of town on a short cruise. But he issued a statement saying "Secretary Acheson goes to this meeting with my complete confidence."

With the secretary went a Republican adviser, former Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, whose presence in the party obviously was to offset in some degree the denunciations of Acheson

U. S. Dollar Drops

Hong Kong, Dec. 18 (AP)—The United States dollar dropped today from 6.13 Hong Kong dollars to 6.04. Official rate is 5.79 to 1. Bankers said the drop was caused by the U. S. State Department ban on American carriers to Red China and a treasury freeze of Chinese Communist assets in the United States.

Heavy Mail Loads

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (AP)—Airmail from 16 nations pours into war-torn Korea at the rate of 11 tons a day. The outgoing mail averages five tons a day. An international exchange office has been set up to sort and route the mail to and from the United Nations forces.

3,850 Evacuees Kingston Quota

Kingston must be prepared to take 3,850 evacuees in the event of an emergency such as the bombing of New York city.

This quota, announced today by Sherwood E. Davis, civil defense director of this city, is Kingston's share of evacuees determined under the statewide percentage plan.

The municipal auditorium has been designated as a reception center, where the evacuees will be received, processed, immunized if necessary, given medical care and assigned to the respective homes. The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary has accepted the responsibility of manning the center in any emergency.

St. Ann's Church Damaged by Fire Sunday at Sawkill

Pastor Hopes Masses Can Be Held Christmas; Loss Estimated at $3,000

The Church of St. Ann at Sawkill was damaged Sunday afternoon by a fire that apparently started in the basement.

The flames traveled between the siding to the roof, burning a hole in the main floor near the chimney and damaging siding and floor rafters.

Quick response and efficient work by volunteer firemen was credited with saving the structure from further damage. The Mt. Marion-Ruby department, Ulster Hose Company and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company were at the scene minutes after the fire was first reported at 2:25 p. m.

A complete survey of damage had not been completed this morning, but Mt. Marion-Ruby firemen reported that unofficial estimates placed the damage at between $2,000 and $3,000. The Rev. James A. Dunnigan, pastor of the church, said he was in hopes that damage could be repaired in time for Christmas services.

Part of Roof Removed

In addition to the direct fire damage, a part of the metal roof had to be removed by firemen in order to gain access to the flames.

The fire was first reported by an unidentified woman who telephoned Central Fire Station in Kingston, headquarters of the county mutual aid system. The Mt. Marion-Ruby department was dispatched and responded under Chief David Scheffel with one piece of apparatus and a 1,000 gallon water tank truck.

Immediately on arrival at the fire, Chief Scheffel summoned assistance through mutual aid, but Ulster Hose and Wicks Engine Company were already on the way, having been ordered out by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kings-

Pace Warns European Allies They Are Not Ready to Stop Reds

Secretary of Army Says U. S. Will Help Only if Convinced Each Nation Is Doing Its Best; Says Progress Made

Brussels, Belgium, Dec. 18 (AP)—U. S. Army Secretary Frank Pace warned the North Atlantic allies today they are "far from ready" to withstand a Communist assault on Western Europe.

Opening a two-day meeting of Atlantic defense and foreign ministers gathered to complete plans for a unified European army, Pace told the defense chiefs the U. S. will aid its partners' defense efforts only if it is "fully convinced" each nation is doing all it can to help itself.

Pace is representing U. S. Defense Secretary George C. Marshall at the meetings. He said:

"The American people already have stepped up their preparedness and plan for even greater sacrifices in the next year. . . . In the U. S. all our efforts are now being geared to expedite the organization of our military forces and the production of munitions.

"I know you share with us an appreciation of the urgency of the situation and the need for speed in your own efforts," he told the ministers.

Some Progress Made

Pace said after 14 months of meetings the Atlantic alliance "can show some real progress in strengthening our military and economic position to withstand a Communist assault on Western Europe, but we are far from ready even now.

"We must now speed up our efforts and translate our plans as rapidly and as effectively as possible * * *.

"Our goal is the maintenance of peace through implementation of strong security measures and every peace - loving man and woman will urge us to get on with our task and will rejoice in the successful conclusion of our work," he declared.

Pace did not mention the toughest problem before the ministers—coaxing or forcing the Germans to supply troop units for the projected International Army. High diplomatic sources here agreed on the eve of the meeting that the Atlantic Pact leaders were ready to find a tough solution for it.

Bergdoll, 23, Faces Prison Term, Fine For Dodging Draft

Son of Notorious World War 1 'Slacker' Will Be Sentenced Thursday; 'Opposed to War'

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Alfred Bergdoll, 23-year-old son of a widely publicized "No. 1 slacker" of World War 1, pleaded guilty today to a two-count draft dodging charge.

The bespectacled, German-born Bergdoll, made his plea before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The youth, a $23-a-week clerk, is the son of notorious draft evader Grover Cleveland Bergdoll of 30 years ago.

He pleaded guilty to failure to report for physical examination last Aug. 21 and to report for induction into the armed forces Nov. 9.

He faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The F.B.I., at the time of young Bergdoll's arrest, said the youth "seems to be opposed to war on philosophical grounds, and the law provides no consideration for that."

Seeks Limited Service

The court set Thursday for sentencing.

The youth's one-time playboy father is now a gentleman farmer in Charles City, Va.

Before young Bergdoll entered his plea, his attorney said his client now wanted to seek "limited service in the armed forces."

Judge Ryan said the defendant "is not going to negotiate these matters with me," and suggested selective service officials were the proper authorities to listen to such a proposal.

The attorney, Herman Aldlerstein, then told the judge he believed Bergdoll needed a psychiatric examination. But when the judge asked if defense wanted the youth sent to a hospital for observation to determine "if he appreciates the nature of the charge," the attorney withdrew the suggestion.

After Bergdoll entered his guilty plea his attorney said that the elder Bergdoll's "trouble" after the First World War "may have affected this boy's attitude."

The elder Bergdoll was tried by an army court martial in the late 30's for World War 1 draft-dodging, and sentenced to two years at hard labor.

Says Reds Kill 1,570

Taipei, Formosa, Dec. 18 (AP)—The China Union Press said today the Chinese Reds have executed 1,570 landlords in a "big new purge" in Hunan, Hupeh, Honan and Kiangsi provinces. It said 3,000 others were imprisoned on Red charges of being non-cooperative and reactionary.

Truman Will Seek Added Powers to Meet World Crisis

Restoration of War Act Titles Is Expected; 'Big 4' Briefed by Defense Chief

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Truman told his congressional leaders today he needs additional powers in the fields or government contracts and organization in order to deal with the world crisis.

House Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) said after a 90-minute White House conference that Mr. Truman indicated he would send a specific request to the capitol as soon as the necessary papers could be drafted.

House Democratic Leader McCormick (Mass.) said he understood Mr. Truman would ask restoration of powers formerly available to the President under titles one and two of the first war powers act.

Title one of the World War Two law allowed the President to "create, consolidate, transfer or abolish" bureaus and agencies in the interest of more efficient government.

Title Two authorized the President to delegate to war agencies the power to enter into war contracts without regard to existing legal restrictions. This, in effect, provides for contract renegotiation.

Expects Yule Recess

In addition to Rayburn and McCormack, the other members of the congressional "Big Four"—Vice President Barkley and Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.)—attended the conference.

They said the first hour was devoted entirely to a thorough military briefing by Secretary of Defence Marshall, the joint chiefs of staff and the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, but declined to tell reporters anything about that.

Rayburn said he did not know when the present short session of congress would adjourn, but that he anticipated a Christmas recess from Friday until next Tuesday.

Austerity Is Keynote

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today that his third-term inauguration on New Year's Day would be an austere ceremony because of the gravity of the times. The governor told newsmen the ceremony would be "completely simple" and he had requested that the traditional inaugural ball on New Year's Eve be cancelled. "The times are too grim for holding an inaugural ball," Dewey added.

$1,122,077 Asked For 1951 Budget

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today he has received from city departments budget requirements that would set the 1951 total at $1,122,077.

This is $78,635 over the 1950 adopted budget, but all figures are subject to study and revision by the mayor who said he will hold the budget hearing between Christmas and New Year's at a date to be announced.

Amounts submitted by the departments were: B.P.W., $414,123; Fire Department, $189,715; Police Department, $147,370; Laboratory, $137,808; Pension System, $80,000; City Hall and municipal buildings and employes, $153,061.

Fastest U.S. Jet Outfights Best Russia Has to Offer

An Advance U. S. Air Base in Korea, Dec. 18 (AP)—America's fastest jet fighter plane, in its first combat, sent a Russian-made MIG-15 jet spinning earthward in flames and smoke yesterday.

Four North American F-86 Sabres scored a clean victory in a five-minute aerial dogfight with four Soviet-type MIG-15s 10 miles south of Sinuiju, in Northwest Korea.

The other three Red planes fled across the Manchurian border.

Lt. Col. Bruce H. Hinton of Stockton, Calif., shot down the MIG in a contest eagerly awaited by men of this stripped down air field.

The group commander, Col. John C. Meyer, of Newcastle, Del., and Forest Hills, N. Y., praised the Sabre:

"It's just the finest airplane I ever saw or ever flew. It's just everything good wrapped up into one fast package. It's even nice to taxi and nice and warm and comfortable to sit in. It has all the little things as well as all the big ones."

The Sabre, the U. S. Air Force's top line operational jet, is presumed to be the fastest jet in the world. It holds the official world's record of 670.0981 miles an hour, established Sept. 15, 1948, at Muroc Air Base in California.

The question has been: "How will it stack up against the Russian-built MIG-15s?"

Both have swept-back wings and the MIG-15 is believed to be the newest and fastest of the Russian jets, with a speed in excess of 600 miles an hour.

Almond Says Barrages Great Assistance for 10th Corps—Chinese Are in Hamhung

U. S. Third Fights

Infantry Division Hits at Charges Made in Darkness

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (AP) — A fiery bombardment by warships and field artillery today held at bay another Red Chinese assault on the United Nations' tiny Hungnam beach in northeast Korea.

The U. S. battleship Missouri arrived offshore. Its 16-inch guns and one-ton shells were a welcome addition to the curtain of fire shielding hard-pressed units of the U. S. 10th Corps.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander, obviously was pleased by the intense firepower hurled at the masses of Chinese infantry pressing on Hungnam port from three sides.

"Things are going just the way we planned them," he said. "Now every time the Chinese Communists dig in, we hit them with artillery concentrations, mix them up and knock them out. That's something we have been unable to do before."

Unable to Get Through

At no point on the port's defense arc had the Chinese been able to punch through. Observers said the Reds apparently had now sent many troops into bomb and shell-shattered Hamhung, industrial city six miles northwest of Hungham. Hamhung was abandoned to the Reds Saturday.

A estimated 25,000 Chinese pressed against the beachhead rim. Another estimated 75,000 were moving up in the snow-mantled hills west and northwest of Hungnam.

Arrival of the battleship Missouri increases the range and effectiveness of naval fire. The mighty Mo's guns have a range of 20 miles—far enough to reach the white hills sheltering Chinese rear positions.

The 45,000-ton warship last was reported in Korean waters Nov. 7.

General MacArthur's war summary credited combined naval and ground force bombardment with breaking up a pre-dawn assault against perimeter positions west of Hungnam—evidently an attack intended in great force.

Charges Are Repelled

However, U. S. Third Infantry Division doughboys rose from their snowy foxholes along the seashore flats to repel charges by wildly-shouting Chinese in company strength Sunday night.

Field dispatches said the Chinese screamed "all right, all right" as they attacked by the light of their own green and red flares. The shouts were in high-pitched, sing-song English.

And the riflemen mowed them down.

There was a lull in the fighting after daybreak.

Later Monday, elements of the Third Division exchanged intermittent fire with Korean Reds on the right flank of the defense perimeter.

It was the first time since the wholesale retreat of U.N. forces in the northeast toward the Hungnam beachhead that North Koreans were identified in the attacking force in sizable numbers.

The right flank of the beachhead was regarded as "the only place where the danger flag is flying right now." No contact was reported on the left flank

U. S. Dollar Drops

Hong Kong, Dec. 18 (AP)—The United States dollar dropped today from 6.13 Hong Kong dollars to 6.04. Official rate is 5.79 to 1. Bankers said the drop was caused by the U. S. State Department ban on American carriers to Red China and a treasury freeze of Chinese Communist assets in the United States.

Heavy Mail Loads

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (AP)—Airmail from 16 nations pours into war-torn Korea at the rate of 11 tons a day. The outgoing mail averages five tons a day. An international exchange office has been set up to sort and route the mail to and from the United Nations forces.

Philadelphia Police Hunt Sniper Who Kills One; 6 Hurt

Philadelphia, Dec. (AP)—Scores of police, working around the clock, today hunted a mysterious "mad" sniper who has killed one person and wounded six others in the city's residential Oak Lane section in the last six weeks.

The manhunt—described as the greatest in Philadelphia's history—began late Saturday night after a 28-year-old housewife was slain by a gunman police believe responsible for six other shootings in the area.

"There's no doubt a maniac is on the loose," said one police officer. "Only a madman could have committed these acts."

He admitted police had few clues to go on but said "we'll stay on the job until we get him."

Mrs. Claire Cohen, wife of a junior high school teacher and mother of two small children, was killed by a bullet fired through closed venetian blinds of a kitchen while she was washing dishes.

Police said the killer apparently fired from a terrace across the street from the house since the bullet entered the window, 12 feet above the ground, on a level plane.

They said the man must have seen dim shadows moving about behind the venetian blinds.

Last night, the dimly lighted Oak Lane area on the northwestern edge of the city, was a deserted region.

Residents of the modest, middle-class neighborhood, stayed inside while 130 policemen and 50 auxiliaries patrolled the streets. At least one policeman was assigned to each block of the area.

Few persons answered knocks on the door or ringing of the doorbell.

Mrs. Ann Fine, who answered the doorbell after repeated rings,

3,850 Evacuees Kingston Quota

Kingston must be prepared to take 3,850 evacuees in the event of an emergency such as the bombing of New York city.

This quota, announced today by Sherwood E. Davis, civil defense director of this city, is Kingston's share of evacuees determined under the statewide percentage plan.

The municipal auditorium has been designated as a reception center, where the evacuees will be received, processed, immunized if necessary, given medical care and assigned to the respective homes. The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary has accepted the responsibility of manning the center in any emergency.

St. Ann's Church Damaged by Fire Sunday at Sawkill

Pastor Hopes Masses Can Be Held Christmas; Loss Estimated at $3,000

The Church of St. Ann at Sawkill was damaged Sunday afternoon by a fire that apparently started in the basement.

The flames traveled between the siding to the roof, burning a hole in the main floor near the chimney and damaging siding and floor rafters.

Quick response and efficient work by volunteer firemen was credited with saving the structure from further damage. The Mt. Marion-Ruby department, Ulster Hose Company and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company were at the scene minutes after the fire was first reported at 2:25 p. m.

A complete survey of damage had not been completed this morning, but Mt. Marion-Ruby firemen reported that unofficial estimates placed the damage at between $2,000 and $3,000. The Rev. James A. Dunnigan, pastor of the church, said he was in hopes that damage could be repaired in time for Christmas services.

Part of Roof Removed

In addition to the direct fire damage, a part of the metal roof had to be removed by firemen in order to gain access to the flames.

The fire was first reported by an unidentified woman who telephoned Central Fire Station in Kingston, headquarters of the county mutual aid system. The Mt. Marion-Ruby department was dispatched and responded under Chief David Scheffel with one piece of apparatus and a 1,000 gallon water tank truck.

Immediately on arrival at the fire, Chief Scheffel summoned assistance through mutual aid, but Ulster Hose and Wicks Engine Company were already on the way, having been ordered out by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kings-

Pace Warns European Allies They Are Not Ready to Stop Reds

Secretary of Army Says U. S. Will Help Only if Convinced Each Nation Is Doing Its Best; Says Progress Made

Brussels, Belgium, Dec. 18 (AP)—U. S. Army Secretary Frank Pace warned the North Atlantic allies today they are "far from ready" to withstand a Communist assault on Western Europe.

Opening a two-day meeting of Atlantic defense and foreign ministers gathered to complete plans for a unified European army, Pace told the defense chiefs the U. S. will aid its partners' defense efforts only if it is "fully convinced" each nation is doing all it can to help itself.

Pace is representing U. S. Defense Secretary George C. Marshall at the meetings. He said:

"The American people already have stepped up their preparedness and plan for even greater sacrifices in the next year. . . . In the U. S. all our efforts are now being geared to expedite the organization of our military forces and the production of munitions.

"I know you share with us an appreciation of the urgency of the situation and the need for speed in your own efforts," he told the ministers.

Some Progress Made

Pace said after 14 months of meetings the Atlantic alliance "can show some real progress in strengthening our military and economic position to withstand a Communist assault on Western Europe, but we are far from ready even now.

"We must now speed up our efforts and translate our plans as rapidly and as effectively as possible * * *.

"Our goal is the maintenance of peace through implementation of strong security measures and every peace-loving man and woman will urge us to get on with our task and will rejoice in the successful conclusion of our work," he declared.

Pace did not mention the toughest problem before the ministers—coaxing or forcing the Germans to supply troop units for the projected International Army. High diplomatic sources here agreed on the eve of the meeting that the Atlantic Pact leaders were ready to find a tough solution for it.

Bergdoll, 23, Faces Prison Term, Fine For Dodging Draft

Son of Notorious World War 1 'Slacker' Will Be Sentenced Thursday; 'Opposed to War'

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Alfred Bergdoll, 23-year-old son of a widely publicized "No. 1 slacker" of World War 1, pleaded guilty today to a two-count draft dodging charge.

The bespectacled, German-born Bergdoll, made his plea before Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

The youth, a $23-a-week clerk, is the son of notorious draft evader Grover Cleveland Bergdoll of 30 years ago.

He pleaded guilty to failure to report for physical examination last Aug. 21 and to report for induction into the armed forces Nov. 9.

He faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The F.B.I., at the time of young Bergdoll's arrest, said the youth "seems to be opposed to war on philosophical grounds, and the law provides no consideration for that."

Seeks Limited Service

The court set Thursday for sentencing.

The youth's one-time playboy father is now a gentleman farmer in Charles City, Va.

Before young Bergdoll entered his plea, his attorney said his client now wanted to seek "limited service in the armed forces."

Judge Ryan said the defendant "is not going to negotiate these matters with me," and suggested selective service officials were the proper authorities to listen to such a proposal.

The attorney, Herman Aldlerstein, then told the judge he believed Bergdoll needed a psychiatric examination. But when the judge asked if defense wanted the youth sent to a hospital for observation to determine "if he appreciates the nature of the charge," the attorney withdrew the suggestion.

After Bergdoll entered his guilty plea his attorney said that the elder Bergdoll's "trouble" after the First World War "may have affected this boy's attitude."

The elder Bergdoll was tried by an army court martial in the late 30's for World War 1 draft-dodging, and sentenced to two years at hard labor.

Says Reds Kill 1,570

Taipei, Formosa, Dec. 18 (AP)—The China Union Press said today the Chinese Reds have executed 1,570 landlords in a "big new purge" in Hunan, Hupeh, Honan and Kiangsi provinces. It said 3,000 others were imprisoned on Red charges of being non-cooperative and reactionary.

Truman Will Seek Added Powers to Meet World Crisis

Restoration of War Act Titles Is Expected; 'Big 4' Briefed by Defense Chief

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—President Truman told his congressional leaders today he needs additional powers in the fields or government contracts and organization in order to deal with the world crisis.

House Speaker Rayburn (D.-Tex.) said after a 90-minute White House conference that Mr. Truman indicated he would send a specific request to the capitol as soon as the necessary papers could be drafted.

House Democratic Leader McCormick (Mass.) said he understood Mr. Truman would ask restoration of powers formerly available to the President under titles one and two of the first war powers act.

Title one of the World War Two law allowed the President to "create, consolidate, transfer or abolish" bureaus and agencies in the interest of more efficient government.

Title Two authorized the President to delegate to war agencies the power to enter into war contracts without regard to existing legal restrictions. This, in effect, provides for contract renegotiation.

Expects Yule Recess

In addition to Rayburn and McCormack, the other members of the congressional "Big Four"—Vice President Barkley and Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.)—attended the conference.

They said the first hour was devoted entirely to a thorough military briefing by Secretary of Defence Marshall, the joint chiefs of staff and the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, but declined to tell reporters anything about that.

Rayburn said he did not know when the present short session of congress would adjourn, but that he anticipated a Christmas recess from Friday until next Tuesday.

Austerity Is Keynote

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—Governor Dewey said today that his third-term inauguration on New Year's Day would be an austere ceremony because of the gravity of the times. The governor told newsmen the ceremony would be "completely simple" and he had requested that the traditional inaugural ball on New Year's Eve be cancelled. "The times are too grim for holding an inaugural ball," Dewey added.

$1,122,077 Asked For 1951 Budget

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today he has received from city departments budget requirements that would set the 1951 total at $1,122,077.

This is $78,635 over the 1950 adopted budget, but all figures are subject to study and revision by the mayor who said he will hold the budget hearing between Christmas and New Year's at a date to be announced.

Amounts submitted by the departments were: B.P.W., $414,123; Fire Department, $189,715; Police Department, $147,370; Laboratory, $137,808; Pension System, $80,000; City Hall and municipal buildings and employes, $153,061.

Fastest U.S. Jet Outfights Best Russia Has to Offer

An Advance U. S. Air Base in Korea, Dec. 18 (AP)—America's fastest jet fighter plane, in its first combat, sent a Russian-made MIG-15 jet spinning earthward in flames and smoke yesterday.

Four North American F-86 Sabres scored a clean victory in a five-minute aerial dogfight with four Soviet-type MIG-15s 10 miles south of Sinuiju, in Northwest Korea.

The other three Red planes fled across the Manchurian border.

Lt. Col. Bruce H. Hinton of Stockton, Calif., shot down the MIG in a contest eagerly awaited by men of this stripped down air field.

The group commander, Col. John C. Meyer, of Newcastle, Del., and Forest Hills, N. Y., praised the Sabre:

"It's just the finest airplane I ever saw or ever flew. It's just everything good wrapped up into one fast package. It's even nice to taxi and nice and warm and comfortable to sit in. It has all the little things as well as all the big ones."

The Sabre, the U. S. Air Force's top line operational jet, is presumed to be the fastest jet in the world. It holds the official world's record of 670.0981 miles an hour, established Sept. 15, 1948, at Muroc Air Base in California.

The question has been: "How will it stack up against the Russian-built MIG-15s?"

Both have swept-back wings and the MIG-15 is believed to be the newest and fastest of the Russian jets, with a speed in excess of 600 miles an hour.

Soviet 'New York' Makes For Blush, Red Radio Says

London, Dec. 18 (AP) — Russia's New Yorkers are feeling a bit self-conscious.

They want to be called something else.

Their red-faced plight was revealed today by the Soviet trades union paper, "Trud," Moscow radio said.

It seems there's a New York in the Don Steppes of Central Russia.

And who in Russia wants to be a New Yorker these days? Trud in effect asks.

The Russian New York is less populous than its American counterpart. The former has a population of 9,000. It was founded in Russia's gay nineties when capitalism was not yet a crime and communism was little more than a twinkle in Levin's eye.

The American wife of an enterprising Russian businessman put up the cash to build the factory around which the settlement grew. In her honor, the community was named New York.

"Trud," taking no chances of being accused of pro-Americanism by this innocuous explanation, appends another.

"Others say," it explained, "it was named New York by the 'people who walked back from overseas' after visiting the land of the dollar. In memory of the New York east side and Harlem slums, as a bitter jibe at the poor man's luck, they christened their God-forsaken hovels in the trans-Atlantic mode."

The Soviet New York is a thriving little community, Trud reported.

It has modern apartment buildings, a new hospital and a workers' club.

Illiteracy does not exist.

In its half century or more of existence, it has contributed an impressive procession of doctors, teachers, diplomats and agronomists to the nation. One New Yorker even became a deputy cabinet minister.

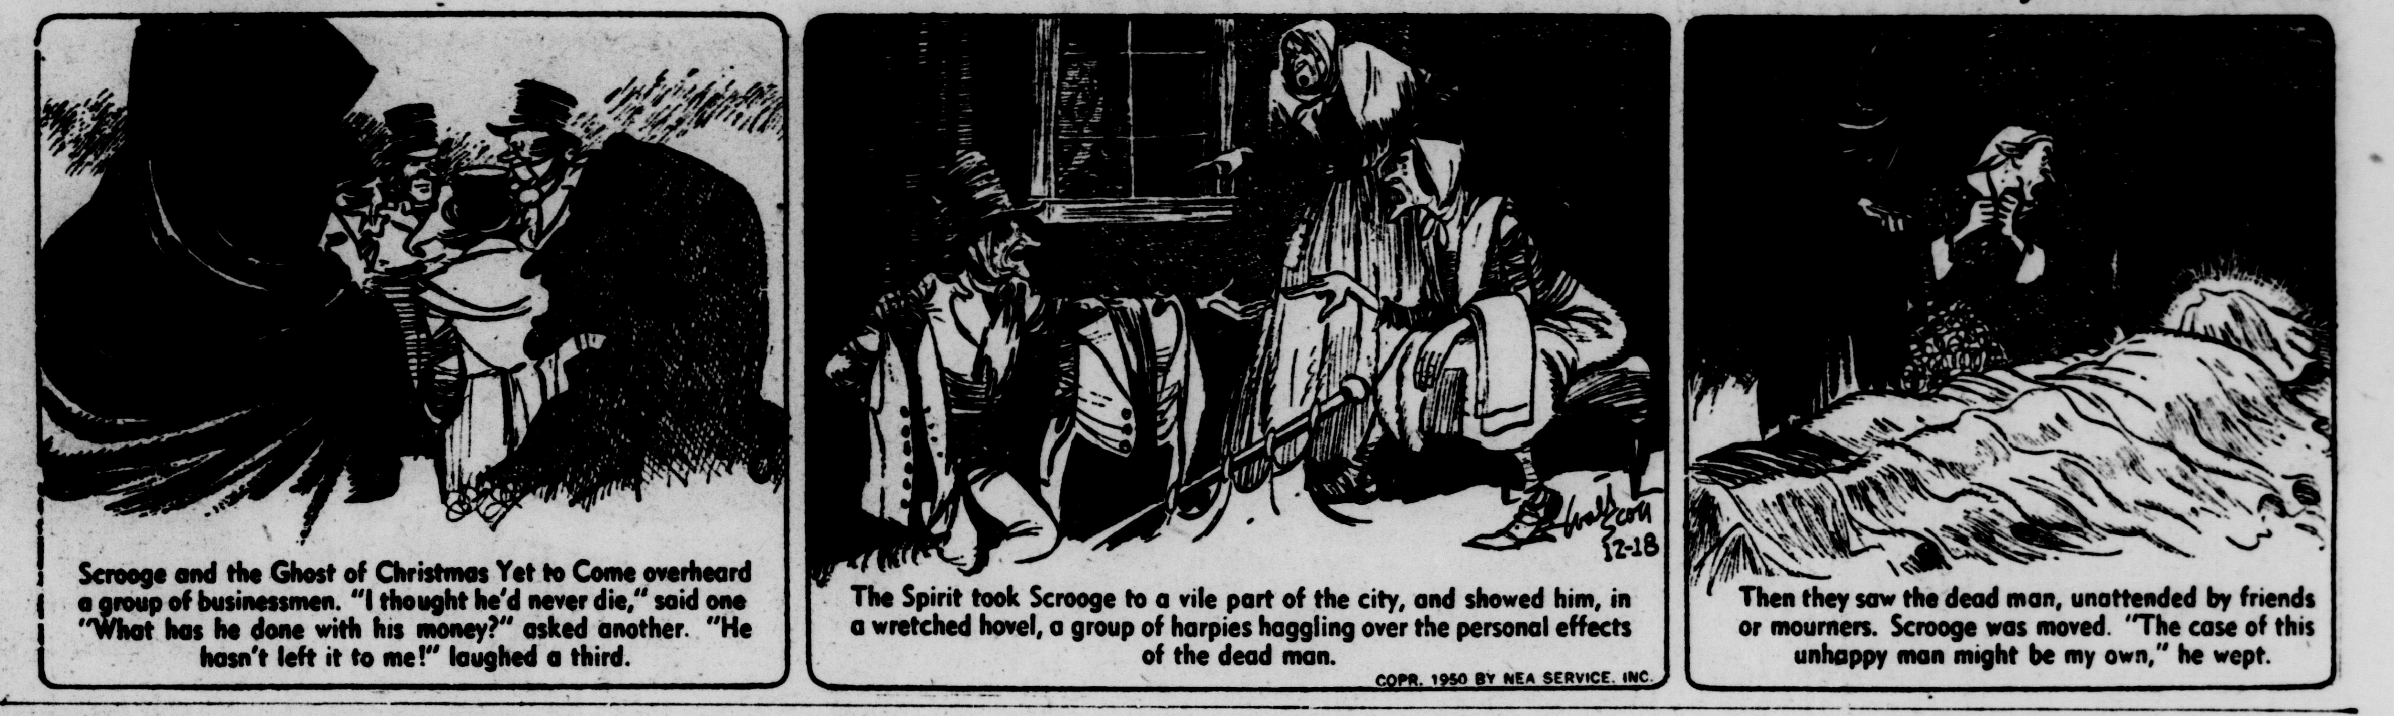
But how can they point with pride to their home-town? Trud's account, read between the lines, makes it plain that Russia's New Yorkers have suffered enough at the expense of heavy-handed humorists.

"As for the name of the settlement," said its Soviet Chief Ilya Doronin, "we shall soon change it." Then he added:

"Indeed how can this be New York? We do not humiliate our glorious town by letting it have such a name."

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

By CHARLES DICKENS



Scrooge and the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come overheard a group of businessmen. "I thought he'd never die," said one "What has he done with his money?" asked another. "He hasn't left it to me!" laughed a third.

The Spirit took Scrooge to a vile part of the city, and showed him, in a wretched hovel, a group of harpies haggling over the personal effects of the dead man.

COPR. 1950 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Then they saw the dead man, unattended by friends or mourners. Scrooge was moved. "The case of this unhappy man might be my own," he wept.

Soviet 'New York' Makes For Blush, Red Radio Says

London, Dec. 18 (AP) — Russia's New Yorkers are feeling a bit self-conscious.

They want to be called something else.

Their red-faced plight was revealed today by the Soviet trades union paper, "Trud," Moscow radio said.

It seems there's a New York in the Don Steppes of Central Russia.

And who in Russia wants to be a New Yorker these days? Trud in effect asks.

The Russian New York is less populous than its American counterpart. The former has a population of 9,000. It was founded in Russia's gay nineties when capitalism was not yet a crime and communism was little more than a twinkle in Levin's eye.

The American wife of an enterprising Russian businessman put up the cash to build the factory around which the settlement grew. In her honor, the community was named New York.

"Trud," taking no chances of being accused of pro-Americanism by this innocuous explanation, appends another.

"Others say," it explained, "it was named New York by the 'people who walked back from overseas' after visiting the land of the dollar. In memory of the New York east side and Harlem slums, as a bitter jibe at the poor man's luck, they christened their God-forsaken hovels in the trans-Atlantic mode."

The Soviet New York is a thriving little community, Trud reported.

It has modern apartment buildings, a new hospital and a workers' club.

Illiteracy does not exist.

In its half century or more of existence, it has contributed an impressive procession of doctors, teachers, diplomats and agronomists to the nation. One New Yorker even became a deputy cabinet minister.

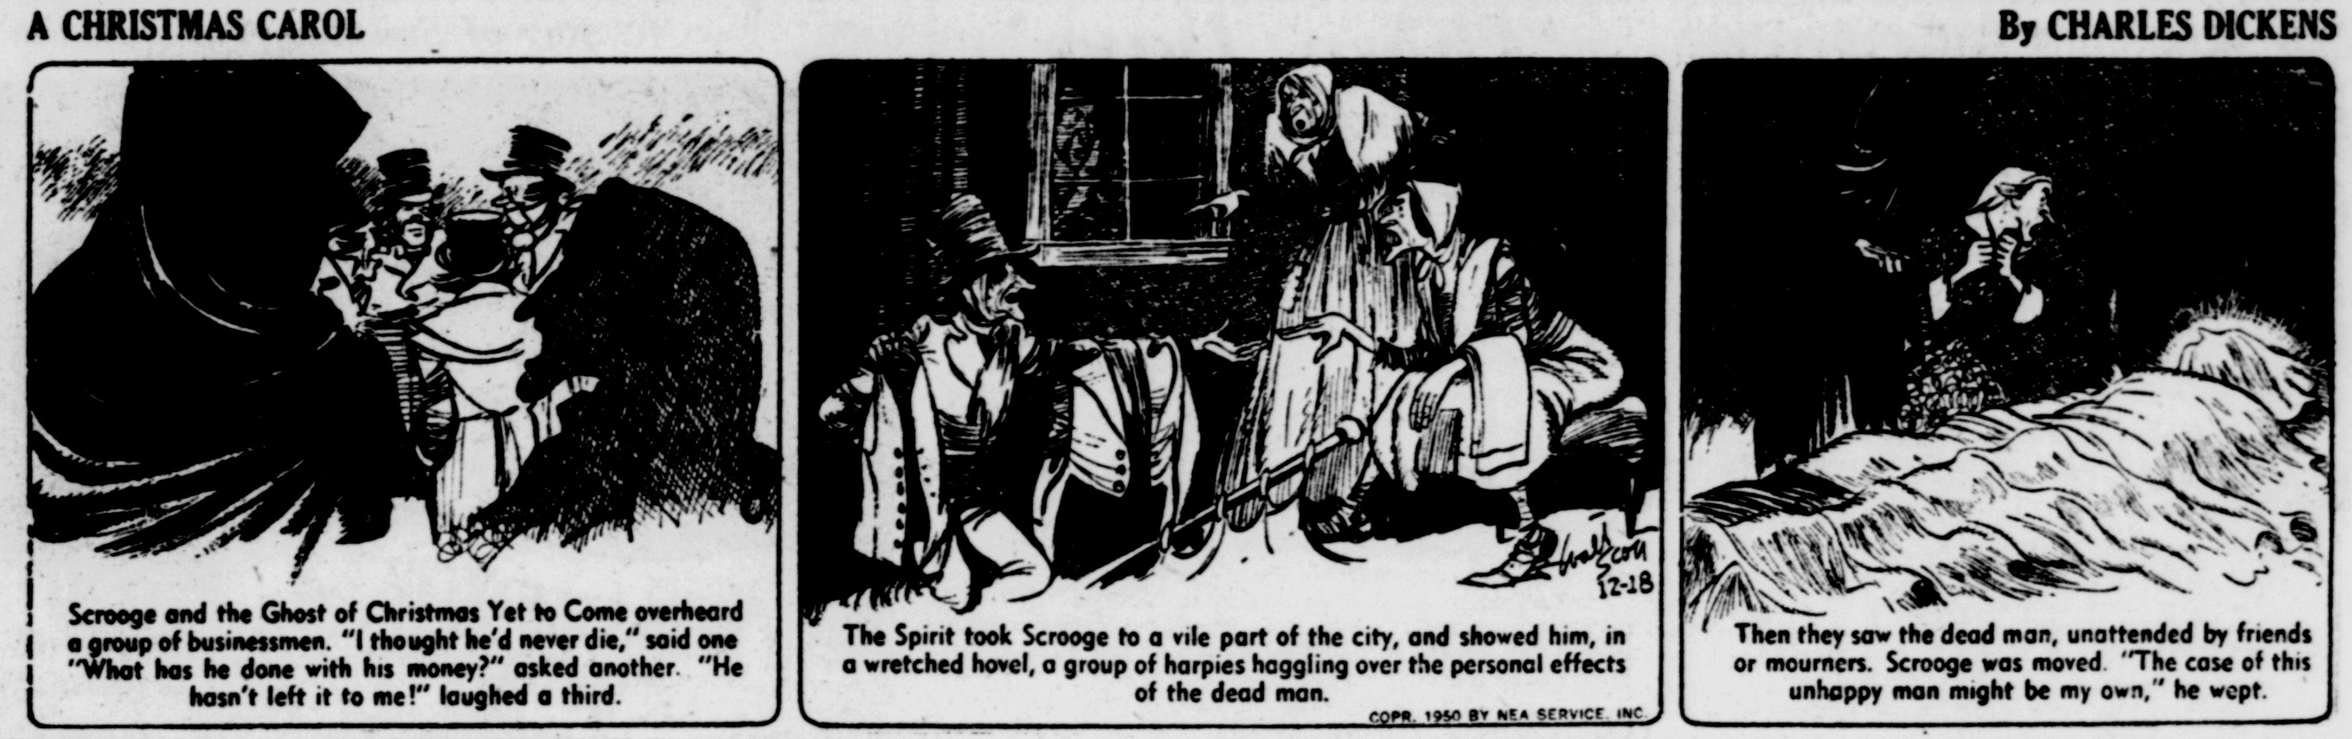
But how can they point with pride to their home-town? Trud's account, read between the lines, makes it plain that Russia's New Yorkers have suffered enough at the expense of heavy-handed humorists.

"As for the name of the settlement," said its Soviet Chief Ilya Doronin, "we shall soon change it." Then he added:

"Indeed how can this be New York? We do not humiliate our glorious town by letting it have such a name."

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

By CHARLES DICKENS



Scrooge and the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come overheard a group of businessmen. "I thought he'd never die," said one "What has he done with his money?" asked another. "He hasn't left it to me!" laughed a third.

The Spirit took Scrooge to a vile part of the city, and showed him, in a wretched hovel, a group of harpies haggling over the personal effects of the dead man.

Then they saw the dead man, unattended by friends or mourners. Scrooge was moved. "The case of this unhappy man might be my own," he wept.

CHRISTMAS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

With the nation's traffic death toll up eleven per cent for the first ten months of the year, the National Safety Council is stepping up its Christmas safety campaign. One hundred sixty-one national organizations are participating in the drive to reduce Christmas and New Year's accidents. The slogan of the campaign is "Don't Let Death Take Your Holiday."

New York State motor vehicle deaths, continuing to inch upwards in September, reached a five-year high in the first three-quarters of 1950.

Traffic accidents reach their peak at the end of the year, the Council points out, because of winter weather, earlier darkness and holiday festivity. Heavier travel also is expected to increase the hazards this year, with service men and women coming home on holiday leaves and some families traveling to military camps to spend the holidays with those who cannot come home.

Safety on the highways is directly conditioned by safety of the highway. The condition of the highways and also the streets in the limits of the city present extra hazards, which calls for extra caution.

To keep death from taking your holiday or someone else's is a simple matter. All that is required is extra caution and courtesy and a little more time during the holiday rush; just enough more time to be extra careful when driving on the highway or crossing streets and in recreational and home activities. The Council offers the following suggestions:

"If you're walking, watch for traffic and wait for the green light before crossing streets. Carry packages so they do not obstruct your view. Motorists cannot always see you, especially during early evening darkness.

"If you're driving, start early and take it easy. Be extremely cautious in bad weather and darkness. And take it easy when you're celebrating. Don't let holiday spirit, or spirits, replace your usual caution and common sense.

"Assume personal responsibility for a safe celebration for yourself and others and you can help make Christmas happy for everyone."

AGE NO BARRIER

What are Winston Churchill's chances of coming back to power? Of all men he can least afford to wait, for he has just celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday.

British practice with regard to the age of its leaders is different from ours. Here seventy is usually regarded as the latest possible age at which a man should occupy the presidency. The two record-holders justify the existence of this tradition. William Henry Harrison, elected at sixty-eight, died after only one month of office. James Buchanan, chosen at 66, was feeble and timid to a degree which his previous long political career had not caused his supporters to expect. His age may well have had something to do with it.

In Great Britain Lord Palmerston died in the premiership at 71. Disraeli served from his seventieth year to his seventy-sixth. The record was held by Gladstone, who began his fourth term at eighty-three and continued until growing blindness and deafness forced him out two years later.

Churchill shows no signs of such defects as compelled Gladstone's retirement, or of the physical weakness which forced Disraeli, in his last year of office, to delegate many of his duties to others. Undoubtedly he is confident that if the anticipated 1951 election brings him back to power he would still possess the vigor in governing with which the world associates him.

JOB FOR PAUL BUNYAN

President Truman has been photographed lately wearing a hand-painted tie bearing the picture of Paul Bunyan, the legendary hero of the logging camps. Paul, it will be remembered, had a famous blue ox, Babe, which measured 42 ax-handles and a plug of tobacco between the horns, and which once hauled a load of logs up the Mississippi simply by drinking the river dry and sucking the logs upstream. Paul himself did things on the same large scale. He would be just the man to help the United Nations out of its plight in Korea.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A LETTER FROM CHINA

Dryden L. Phelps, of the University Community Church, West China Union University, writes to "Soviet Russia Today,' 'a pro-Stalin magazine published in New York:

"Ninety-five per cent of the U. S. press on the Far East is absolutely false, believe the opposite, and you will be close to the facts. The South Korean government first attacked North Korea. It seems that only 'Soviet Russia Today' and Harry Ward's Social Action bulletin of the M. E. Federation are about the only trustworthy papers in the U. S. now.

"How can we out here help you in the U. S. and the progressives?

Mr. Phelps is a missionary connected with the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, stationed at Chengtu in the Province of Szechwen. He says in his letter:

". . . I absolutely believe this to be the most comprehensive renaissance the human spirit has ever experienced; and the most dynamic change in human history. God is working alongside of these Communists."

These three paragraphs taken from his letter—from which I omit the appeal for funds—are as astonishing to me as they must be to you. There is no date, but I should assume that the letter was writen in August or September of this year, when Americans were already being killed in Korea. It was written before the Chinese Communist army marched into Korea.

The important fact is that this Christian missionary no longer believes what one would expect of him, that "the most dynamic change in human history" took place when little men of Palestine wandered into the centers of the Roman empire and brought into the western world the sweet and gentle message of the Bible. Out of their faith developed the western Christian civilization in which we live.

Taken all in all and considering the frailties and short-comings of human nature, a good society developed from the concepts of the Ten Commandments, the beatitudes, the sermon on the mount, the prophets, the psalms, the apostles, to say nothing of significant influences of the Greek philosophers. In such a society, pity, compassion, charity, love, and the dignity of the individual human being, "created in the image of God," prevailed often, though not always.

To emphasize our failures without giving due credit to our enormous achievements is to bear false witness, which is a sin in any man's religion.

How can God be working alongside of these Communists when they teach hate and struggle as the normal state of man? Mr. Phelps, of course, could not answer that. This letter is obviously an appeal for funds to compelte the building of his church. He even gives the address to which funds may be sent. This I omit lest I be guilty of assisting in the perpetration of a fraud.

A marxist must hate God. He must believe that religion is an opiate for the people. He must accept it as a fundamental tenet of his philosophy that not the supernatural but the physical eivironment controls the nature of man.

But the marxist destroys churches and religions slowly and by subtle means. He takes time in the process. These are his steps:

1. First he permits churches to exist, but he forces them to become the property of the state;
2. He then appoints a layman as an official in charge of religious sects;
3. Then the state strictly monopolizes all educational institutions, forbidding religious education except for specialists; that is, those who intend to be clergymen;
4. Then the marxist abolishes dead languages—that is, Latin, Hebrew, ancient Greek, etc., forcing all religious services to be in vulgate tongues;
5. Then he requires that all churches separate themselves from international institutions; the Catholics from Rome; the Protestants from various mission boards; the Jews from world congresses, etc.;
6. Then he organizes a state church which becomes a political arm of government to do its work in whatever way he desires;
7. Then he regulates that no marxist may be a church member and that only marxists may hold important public offices.

In a word, religion is first enslaved to the state and then every measure is taken to make it difficult for succeeding generations to have access to its doctrines. Religious institutions thus are for the old and dying, not for children or youth.

Study the developments in each Communist country and see if this program is not being followed. Yet this American Baptist missionary can white such a letter!

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE GENERAL PRACTITIONER

We are all so used to specialists in medicine that we may wonder what is left for the general practitioner to do. As a matter of fact, the general practitioner has more to do, more ground to cover, than at any previous time in history. He must know something about all the specialties in medicine.

In the first place, the general practitioner sees the patient first and sees the symptoms present in the early stages. He knows then exactly, or as well as is humanly possible, just which specialist should be consulted.

In former days a patient was normal, or sane, or he was abnormal, or crazy. Today, the general practitioner is able to help patients with early signs of mental disturbance because he usually knows the background of the patient and the circumstances which may be causing or be partly a cause of any odd behavior.

Today, as never before, the general public is learning more about psychiatry. In Medical Clinics of North America, Drs. Josephine Ewert and Mary Giffin, Mayo Clinic, state: "Without malice aforethought, curiosity of laymen demands of the family physician some understanding of the intelligence tests, the projective technics and the vocational aptitude examinations frequently applied to his patients."

Thus today, mind and body are not separated in the physician's estimate of the all-round make up of his patient.

In regard to intelligence tests, the family physician will find these tests of more value in children than in adults, as showing the mental and physical progress of the child. Also whether the child, instead of being slow or retarded mentally, is usually bright and how best the parents can bring up the gifted child. The gifted child is not easy to raise.

The usual child sits well at six months, walks at 15 months, and talks in sentences of three words at 24 months. However, Drs. Ewert and Giffin point out that patterns of behavior, such as toilet training, mean more to the mental and emotional adjustment of the child than does his sitting, walking or talking ability.

Fortunately, medical students today get more training in psychiatry than in former days, which makes up to some extent for lack of practical experience.

Bed Wetting — Enuresis

An ailment most distressing and embarrassing to both child and parents is bedwetting, called enuresis. Write today for Dr. Barton's helpful leaflet on this subject entitled "Bed Wetting—Enuresis." The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — When congressional and cabinet leaders filed into the White House to hear the President's report on the national emergency, Secretary of State Acheson happened to take a seat just opposite a row of his G.O.P. critics—Senators, Taft, Bridges of New Hampshire, and Wherry of Nebraska.

"Here is your opposition across from you," remarked Wherry, in an effort to break the ice..

The secretary of state did not quite know how to take this, whereupon Wherry interposed:

"I mean your constructive opposition .

The meeting that followed was about the nearest approach both political parties have made toward war cooperation. Republican Senators Wiley of Wisconsin and Millikin of Colorado, with ex-speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts, seemed especially sympathetic; and even Taft, though he disagreed with the President, offered to submit his dissenting statement to Mr. Truman for his O.K.

Russian War Moves

The meeting was opened with a grim intelligence report indicating that while things were slightly better in Korea, tension had increased in other parts of the world. Russia seemed to be preparing to chop off new portions of Europe and Asia, the report indicated, while we were engrossed with China.

After the explanation of the military perils facing the nation, Mr. Truman invited the senators to ask questions. He seemed especially anxious to get the cooperation of Senator Taft, and directed many of his remarks toward him.

Taft and Wherry, however, demurred at Truman's proposed "national emergency."

"We shouldn't rush into this," cautioned Taft. He went on to say that he still didn't know what the program was which the President proposed, and that he doubted whether the public was prepared for all-out mobilization. "Does it have to be done this week?" he asked.

The President replied in the affirmative. Days, even hours are precious when total war might be approaching, he added.

"Does this mean wage and price controls?" asked Colorado's Millikin.

"It does," replied the President.

'Unhorsed Cavalryman'

Millikin, Wiley and Joe Martin were inclined to agree that Truman's declaration was poorly timed, but Martin urged that "we forget politics and work together as Americans."

When the President urged the importance of the psychological effect on the public, Senator Taft made this observation: "One big headline, one flash in the newspapers isn't enough to condition the people for the job they must shoulder in a national emergency. They will be better prepared both to accept the situation and do the job if they have some advance notice."

However, Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois put in some persuasive arguments on the other side.

"I feel like a cavalryman who has had his horse shot out from under him," Lucas said, referring to the fact that he had just been defeated for re-election.

"You go right ahead, Scott," interrupted the President. "You're still the majority leader."

"You Republican gentlemen have a large following," continued Lucas, "and I think it would have a bad effect if you publicly opposed a state of emergency."

White-haired Senator George of Georgia, an elder statesman who frequently disagrees with the administration, this time supported it.

"I think it would have a very bad effect on the public if you left the White House and said an emergency was not necessary," he told his Republican colleagues.

Taft agreed that an emergency did exist but still seemed to think that the President had enough power to cope with it. Later he drafted a statement along this line which he published—after submitting it to the President.

It was on this general note that the meeting broke up. A reasonably good start toward better political cooperation had been achieved.

Note—At one point during the biparitsan conference, Senator Bridges asked Secretary of Defense Marshall if he had changed his mind on universal military training. Marshall replied that he hadn't; that UMT was a long-range plan to provide reserves, but it could not supply the men we need right now.

The first official hint that atomic bombs have been shipped to Japan, in case President Truman decides to use them, slipped out on the Senate floor the other day. However, the mention was so casual that the public didn't even notice it.

During a debate on whether atomic bombs should be used against the Chinese Communists, Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine blurted: "As I understand, the bombs are there (in Japan).

Brewster did not further elaborate.

Note—President Truman has made it clear that he won't order the atomic bomb dropped unless Russia makes the first move. He has also agreed that, barring a surprise attack, he will first consult with the British.

Merry-Go-Round

It is against the law for anyone to mail a threatening letter to the President.. However, the President can write threatening letters to anyone he wishes . Every member of the present lame-duck Senate is included in the will of the late Charles Newman, Rhode Island steel magnate. As a result, his estate has been swamped with inquiries from senators, asking how much they get. But here's the catch. Several charities get first priority, and if they accept, the senators will get nothing ... White House Jokester George Allen is among the President's many friends who worry about Mr. Truman's sudden flare-ups. But in Allen's private office hangs a handsome, framed motto reading: "A man is as big as the things that annoy him." And right next to the motto is an autographed photo of Harry S. Truman.

Question Asked Whether Rail Strikers Shall Go Free After Defying Government

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 18—Do the persons who defied the authority of the government of the United States and stopped train service in many strategic places last week, causing an enormous property damage, now go scot free?

If a young man refuses to accept a draft call he is punished, if a soldier refuses to obey an order he is disciplined, and if anyone puts an impediment on the tracks of a railroad and causes the trains to halt he can be jailed under the laws governing interruptions to interstate commerce.

But what of the individuals who reported "sick" and tied up the railroads in several cities even though the same trains were being operated as a part of the United States Army? Will those who engaged in a conspiracy to interrupt train service escape any punishment? Who will reimburse the citizens for millions lost by the rail tie-up and interrupted delivery of mail?

Usually where there are labor disputes and a refusal to operate facilities, infractions are waived when a settlement is made. Normally as a condition of settlement the employer is coerced into dropping lawsuits. But this time it was the government of the United States which was acting as the employer. The circumstances under which a conspiracy was hatched to damage the transportation service of the government and to interfere with the orderly shipment of the mails are beyond the realm of an ordinary labor dispute.

Nor does the episode come under the right to strike or the right to refuse to work. Individuals have a right to stay off the job. That's an individual act which is covered by the involuntary servitude provision of the Constitution. But the moment there is action in concert, a conspiracy emerges which isn't protected by the Constitution. Two or more persons who persuade others to refrain from work can, under certain circumstances, be adjudged guilty of a conspiracy. Where, moreover, the conspiracy tends to violate the laws of the United States or to obstruct the operations or functioning of the government itself, there is ground for prosecution.

The test is here. Will the Department of Justice as the law enforement agency of the government carry on a thorough investigation and ask for the indictment of the guilty parties?

There is much talk about ridding the country of those engaged in subversive activity. There is talk about refusing to appease when there is a problem of justice and wrongdoing involved. The administration has at times appeased union labor and so has congress on the theory that the votes of the unions must not be alienated. But appeasement does not pay in any instance where a fundamental principle is concerned.

The issue as to whether a union is responsible for wildcat or "unauthorized" strikes is before the courts now as a consequence of the failure of the Coal Miners' Union last year to obey a court order. The Department of Justice at that time was severely criticized for its laxity in gathering evidence but it remains to be seen whether the courts will agree or disagree in the final analysis with the department's case as it was presented.

The present situation, however, is far different from that created by recalcitrant coal miners. Here the conspiracy to obstruct came from individuals who were working for the United States Army. They all reported "sick." Evidence can certainly be gathered as to whether any physicians were actually consulted in any cases and what testimony such physicians will give where several hundred switchmen were involved. Will the switchmen under oath swear that they were "sick"? Plainly any refusal to continue at work raises the issue of whether seniority rights have been forfeited. Are the switchmen who refused to work now employes? It may turn out that the switchmen were innocent victims of a conspiracy engineered by persons higher up. Will the Department of Justice follow through and get at the guilty persons or will principle be abused once more and the country be given addiitional proof of the deterioration of government in Washington?

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 14—The Harvard Law Review has inquired for the date of an essay in which I referred to the late Oliver Wendell Holmes as a cynical and senile brutalitarian. Let them look it up. I don't think I like them. The editors of the Harvard Law Review have included the illustrious Alger Hiss and Lee Pressman. Both Alger Hiss and his brother, Donald, were secretaries to Holmes, which job, in his latter phase, combined the duties of hospital orderly and babysitter with those of the intellectual flunkey. Felix Frankfurter picked Holmes' secretaries and, as we know, from abundant testimony, planted many a happy hot dog in the maze of perfidy which developed in the bureaucracy soon after Roosevelt came to power.

In the first Hiss trial, Frankfurter referred to these specimens as "men of competence and character" and by plain implication made himself a hell of a fellow until Tom Murphy, now the New York police commissioner, pinned his ears back by asking whether Pressman, who later became chief counsel of the CIO, also bore his credentials. Judge Kaufman on the bench spared him the necessity of answering, a favor from one New Dealer to another, because Murphy had the goods on Pressman, who later had to admit that he had been a member of the Communist party when old Weenie salted him in the government.

Raymond Moley has written that, in his opinion, some of the defections, a euphemism for treason, in our government during the ascendancy of the Harvard cell are traceable to the influence of Holmes, who had no more morals than a pig and held that force, alone, was the supreme law of civilization. Moley probably is right. Holmes did become the idol of a godless cult and the task of debunking him will be long and wearisome because, like Roosevelt, he is accepted as a magnificent Something by millions of dolts with dull eyes and loose, wet lips who don't know what or why. Frankfurter, the muddy master quibbler, exalts Holmes in specious raptures, and others of the same evasive mind circle warily to the conclusion that tyranny is inevitable and ideal. On alternate days they damn fascism.

It will be very hard to bring Holmes down, not merely because he has been built so big, but also because the approach is defended by tangles of obfuscation. To make matters worse, even the leaders of the attack are incapable of plain expression, the result being that the creature who finally must be the one to reject Holmes doesn't know what he stood for and therefore can't understand why he was evil.

I refer now to the latest of several tracts taking up the myth. This is a small work called "The Secret of Mr. Justice Holmes," by Harold R. McKinnon, of San Francisco, a lawyer, who begins by saying that Holmes had a very bad philosophy yet ranks among the greatest men of our time.

"His philosophy was agnostic, materialistic, hopeless of the attainment of any ultimate truth, meaning or standard of value," Mr. McKinnon writes. "As a result, it is fundamentally indistinguishable from the moral realism of those regimes of force and power that are the scandal of the century. Nevertheless, his rank is preeminent. Devotion to him has become a cult."

Mr. McKinnon loses most of the audience who must make the final decision to repudiate Holmes when he resorts to such weapons as "agnostic" and "amoral realism." A newspaper editor, addressing the common intelligence, wouldn't use these terms. They

With the nation's traffic death toll up eleven per cent for the first ten months of the year, the National Safety Council is stepping up its Christmas safety campaign. One hundred sixty-one national organizations are participating in the drive to reduce Christmas and New Year's accidents. The slogan of the campaign is "Don't Let Death Take Your Holiday."

New York State motor vehicle deaths, continuing to inch upwards in September, reached a five-year high in the first three-quarters of 1950.

Traffic accidents reach their peak at the end of the year, the Council points out, because of winter weather, earlier darkness and holiday festivity. Heavier travel also is expected to increase the hazards this year, with service men and women coming home on holiday leaves and some families traveling to military camps to spend the holidays with those who cannot come home.

Safety on the highways is directly conditioned by safety of the highway. The condition of the highways and also the streets in the limits of the city present extra hazards, which calls for extra caution.

To keep death from taking your holiday or someone else's is a simple matter. All that is required is extra caution and courtesy and a little more time during the holiday rush; just enough more time to be extra careful when driving on the highway or crossing streets and in recreational and home activities. The Council offers the following suggestions:

"If you're walking, watch for traffic and wait for the green light before crossing streets. Carry packages so they do not obstruct your view. Motorists cannot always see you, especially during early evening darkness.

"If you're driving, start early and take it easy. Be extremely cautious in bad weather and darkness. And take it easy when you're celebrating. Don't let holiday spirit, or spirits, replace your usual caution and common sense.

"Assume personal responsibility for a safe celebration for yourself and others and you can help make Christmas happy for everyone."

AGE NO BARRIER

What are Winston Churchill's chances of coming back to power? Of all men he can least afford to wait, for he has just celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday.

British practice with regard to the age of its leaders is different from ours. Here seventy is usually regarded as the latest possible age at which a man should occupy the presidency. The two record-holders justify the existence of this tradition. William Henry Harrison, elected at sixty-eight, died after only one month of office. James Buchanan, chosen at 66, was feeble and timid to a degree which his previous long political career had not caused his supporters to expect. His age may well have had something to do with it.

In Great Britain Lord Palmerston died in the premiership at 71. Disraeli served from his seventieth year to his seventy-sixth. The record was held by Gladstone, who began his fourth term at eighty-three and continued until growing blindness and deafness forced him out two years later.

Churchill shows no signs of such defects as compelled Gladstone's retirement, or of the physical weakness which forced Disraeli, in his last year of office, to delegate many of his duties to others. Undoubtedly he is confident that if the anticipated 1951 election brings him back to power he would still possess the vigor in governing with which the world associates him.

JOB FOR PAUL BUNYAN

President Truman has been photographed lately wearing a hand-painted tie bearing the picture of Paul Bunyan, the legendary hero of the logging camps. Paul, it will be remembered, had a famous blue ox, Babe, which measured 42 ax-handles and a plug of tobacco between the horns, and which once hauled a load of logs up the Mississippi simply by drinking the river dry and sucking the logs upstream. Paul himself did things on the same large scale. He would be just the man to help the United Nations out of its plight in Korea.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Dryden L. Phelps, of the University Community Church, West China Union University, writes to "Soviet Russia Today,' 'a pro-Stalin magazine published in New York:

"Ninety-five per cent of the U. S. press on the Far East is absolutely false, believe the opposite, and you will be close to the facts. The South Korean government first attacked North Korea. It seems that only 'Soviet Russia Today' and Harry Ward's Social Action bulletin of the M. E. Federation are about the only trustworthy papers in the U. S. now.

"How can we out here help you in the U. S. and the progressives?

Mr. Phelps is a missionary connected with the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, stationed at Chengtu in the Province of Szechwen. He says in his letter:

". . . I absolutely believe this to be the most comprehensive renaissance the human spirit has ever experienced; and the most dynamic change in human history. God is working alongside of these Communists."

These three paragraphs taken from his letter—from which I omit the appeal for funds—are as astonishing to me as they must be to you. There is no date, but I should assume that the letter was writen in August or September of this year, when Americans were already being killed in Korea. It was written before the Chinese Communist army marched into Korea.

The important fact is that this Christian missionary no longer believes what one would expect of him, that "the most dynamic change in human history" took place when little men of Palestine wandered into the centers of the Roman empire and brought into the western world the sweet and gentle message of the Bible. Out of their faith developed the western Christian civilization in which we live.

Taken all in all and considering the frailties and short-comings of human nature, a good society developed from the concepts of the Ten Commandments, the beatitudes, the sermon on the mount, the prophets, the psalms, the apostles, to say nothing of significant influences of the Greek philosophers. In such a society, pity, compassion, charity, love, and the dignity of the individual human being, "created in the image of God," prevailed often, though not always.

To emphasize our failures without giving due credit to our enormous achievements is to bear false witness, which is a sin in any man's religion.

How can God be working alongside of these Communists when they teach hate and struggle as the normal state of man? Mr. Phelps, of course, could not answer that. This letter is obviously an appeal for funds to compelte the building of his church. He even gives the address to which funds may be sent. This I omit lest I be guilty of assisting in the perpetration of a fraud.

A marxist must hate God. He must believe that religion is an opiate for the people. He must accept it as a fundamental tenet of his philosophy that not the supernatural but the physical eivironment controls the nature of man.

But the marxist destroys churches and religions slowly and by subtle means. He takes time in the process. These are his steps:

1. First he permits churches to exist, but he forces them to become the property of the state;
2. He then appoints a layman as an official in charge of religious sects;
3. Then the state strictly monopolizes all educational institutions, forbidding religious education except for specialists; that is, those who intend to be clergymen;
4. Then the marxist abolishes dead languages—that is, Latin, Hebrew, ancient Greek, etc., forcing all religious services to be in vulgate tongues;
5. Then he requires that all churches separate themselves from international institutions; the Catholics from Rome; the Protestants from various mission boards; the Jews from world congresses, etc.;
6. Then he organizes a state church which becomes a political arm of government to do its work in whatever way he desires;
7. Then he regulates that no marxist may be a church member and that only marxists may hold important public offices.

In a word, religion is first enslaved to the state and then every measure is taken to make it difficult for succeeding generations to have access to its doctrines. Religious institutions thus are for the old and dying, not for children or youth.

Study the developments in each Communist country and see if this program is not being followed. Yet this American Baptist missionary can white such a letter!

That Body of Yours

THE GENERAL PRACTITIONER

We are all so used to specialists in medicine that we may wonder what is left for the general practitioner to do. As a matter of fact, the general practitioner has more to do, more ground to cover, than at any previous time in history. He must know something about all the specialties in medicine.

In the first place, the general practitioner sees the patient first and sees the symptoms present in the early stages. He knows then exactly, or as well as is humanly possible, just which specialist should be consulted.

In former days a patient was normal, or sane, or he was abnormal, or crazy. Today, the general practitioner is able to help patients with early signs of mental disturbance because he usually knows the background of the patient and the circumstances which may be causing or be partly a cause of any odd behavior.

Today, as never before, the general public is learning more about psychiatry. In Medical Clinics of North America, Drs. Josephine Ewert and Mary Giffin, Mayo Clinic, state: "Without malice aforethought, curiosity of laymen demands of the family physician some understanding of the intelligence tests, the projective technics and the vocational aptitude examinations frequently applied to his patients."

Thus today, mind and body are not separated in the physician's estimate of the all-round make up of his patient.

In regard to intelligence tests, the family physician will find these tests of more value in children than in adults, as showing the mental and physical progress of the child. Also whether the child, instead of being slow or retarded mentally, is usually bright and how best the parents can bring up the gifted child. The gifted child is not easy to raise.

The usual child sits well at six months, walks at 15 months, and talks in sentences of three words at 24 months. However, Drs. Ewert and Giffin point out that patterns of behavior, such as toilet training, mean more to the mental and emotional adjustment of the child than does his sitting, walking or talking ability.

Fortunately, medical students today get more training in psychiatry than in former days, which makes up to some extent for lack of practical experience.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — When congressional and cabinet leaders filed into the White House to hear the President's report on the national emergency, Secretary of State Acheson happened to take a seat just opposite a row of his G.O.P. critics—Senators, Taft, Bridges of New Hampshire, and Wherry of Nebraska.

"Here is your opposition across from you," remarked Wherry, in an effort to break the ice.

The secretary of state did not quite know how to take this, whereupon Wherry interposed:

"I mean your constructive opposition .

The meeting that followed was about the nearest approach both political parties have made toward war cooperation. Republican Senators Wiley of Wisconsin and Millikin of Colorado, with ex-speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts, seemed especially sympathetic; and even Taft, though he disagreed with the President, offered to submit his dissenting statement to Mr. Truman for his O.K.

Russian War Moves

The meeting was opened with a grim intelligence report indicating that while things were slightly better in Korea, tension had increased in other parts of the world. Russia seemed to be preparing to chop off new portions of Europe and Asia, the report indicated, while we were engrossed with China.

After the explanation of the military perils facing the nation, Mr. Truman invited the senators to ask questions. He seemed especially anxious to get the cooperation of Senator Taft, and directed many of his remarks toward him.

Taft and Wherry, however, demurred at Truman's proposed "national emergency."

"We shouldn't rush into this," cautioned Taft. He went on to say that he still didn't know what the program was which the President proposed, and that he doubted whether the public was prepared for all-out mobilization. "Does it have to be done this week?" he asked.

The President replied in the affirmative. Days, even hours are precious when total war might be approaching, he added.

"Does this mean wage and price controls?" asked Colorado's Millikin.

"It does," replied the President.

'Unhorsed Cavalryman'

Millikin, Wiley and Joe Martin were inclined to agree that Truman's declaration was poorly timed, but Martin urged that "we forget politics and work together as Americans."

When the President urged the importance of the psychological effect on the public, Senator Taft made this observation: "One big headline, one flash in the newspapers isn't enough to condition the people for the job they must shoulder in a national emergency. They will be better prepared both to accept the situation and do the job if they have some advance notice."

However, Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois put in some persuasive arguments on the other side.

"I feel like a cavalryman who has had his horse shot out from under him," Lucas said, referring to the fact that he had just been defeated for re-election.

"You go right ahead, Scott," interrupted the President. "You're still the majority leader."

"You Republican gentlemen have a large following," continued Lucas, "and I think it would have a bad effect if you publicly opposed a state of emergency."

White-haired Senator George of Georgia, an elder statesman who frequently disagrees with the administration, this time supported it.

"I think it would have a very bad effect on the public if you left the White House and said an emergency was not necessary," he told his Republican colleagues.

Taft agreed that an emergency did exist but still seemed to think that the President had enough power to cope with it. Later he drafted a statement along this line which he published—after submitting it to the President.

It was on this general note that the meeting broke up. A reasonably good start toward better political cooperation had been achieved.

Note—At one point during the biparitsan conference, Senator Bridges asked Secretary of Defense Marshall if he had changed his mind on universal military training. Marshall replied that he hadn't; that UMT was a long-range plan to provide reserves, but it could not supply the men we need right now.

The first official hint that atomic bombs have been shipped to Japan, in case President Truman decides to use them, slipped out on the Senate floor the other day. However, the mention was so casual that the public didn't even notice it.

During a debate on whether atomic bombs should be used against the Chinese Communists, Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine blurted: "As I understand, the bombs are there (in Japan).

Brewster did not further elaborate.

Note—President Truman has made it clear that he won't order the atomic bomb dropped unless Russia makes the first move. He has also agreed that, barring a surprise attack, he will first consult with the British.

Merry-Go-Round

It is against the law for anyone to mail a threatening letter to the President.. However, the President can write threatening letters to anyone he wishes . Every member of the present lame-duck Senate is included in the will of the late Charles Newman, Rhode Island steel magnate. As a result, his estate has been swamped with inquiries from senators, asking how much they get. But here's the catch. Several charities get first priority, and if they accept, the senators will get nothing ... White House Jokester George Allen is among the President's many friends who worry about Mr. Truman's sudden flare-ups. But in Allen's private office hangs a handsome, framed motto reading: "A man is as big as the things that annoy him." And right next to the motto is an autographed photo of Harry S. Truman.

Evidence can certainly be gathered as to whether any physicians were actually consulted in any cases and what testimony such physicians will give where several hundred switchmen were involved. Will the switchmen under oath swear that they were "sick"? Plainly any refusal to continue at work raises the issue of whether seniority rights have been forfeited. Are the switchmen who refused to work now employes? It may turn out that the switchmen were innocent victims of a conspiracy engineered by persons higher up. Will the Department of Justice follow through and get at the guilty persons or will principle be abused once more and the country be given addiitional proof of the deterioration of government in Washington?

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 14—The Harvard Law Review has inquired for the date of an essay in which I referred to the late Oliver Wendell Holmes as a cynical and senile brutalitarian. Let them look it up. I don't think I like them. The editors of the Harvard Law Review have included the illustrious Alger Hiss and Lee Pressman. Both Alger Hiss and his brother, Donald, were secretaries to Holmes, which job, in his latter phase, combined the duties of hospital orderly and babysitter with those of the intellectual flunkey. Felix Frankfurter picked Holmes' secretaries and, as we know, from abundant testimony, planted many a happy hot dog in the maze of perfidy which developed in the bureaucracy soon after Roosevelt came to power.

In the first Hiss trial, Frankfurter referred to these specimens as "men of competence and character" and by plain implication made himself a hell of a fellow until Tom Murphy, now the New York police commissioner, pinned his ears back by asking whether Pressman, who later became chief counsel of the CIO, also bore his credentials. Judge Kaufman on the bench spared him the necessity of answering, a favor from one New Dealer to another, because Murphy had the goods on Pressman, who later had to admit that he had been a member of the Communist party when old Weenie salted him in the government.

Raymond Moley has written that, in his opinion, some of the defections, a euphemism for treason, in our government during the ascendancy of the Harvard cell are traceable to the influence of Holmes, who had no more morals than a pig and held that force, alone, was the supreme law of civilization. Moley probably is right. Holmes did become the idol of a godless cult and the task of debunking him will be long and wearisome because, like Roosevelt, he is accepted as a magnificent Something by millions of dolts with dull eyes and loose, wet lips who don't know what or why. Frankfurter, the muddy matter quibbler, exalts Holmes in specious raptures, and others of the same evasive mind circle warily to the conclusion that tyranny is inevitable and ideal. On alternate days they damn fascism.

It will be very hard to bring Holmes down, not merely because he has been built so big, but also because the approach is defended by tangles of obfuscation. To make matters worse, even the leaders of the attack are incapable of plain expression, the result being that the creature who finally must be the one to reject Holmes doesn't know what he stood for and therefore can't understand why he was evil.

I refer now to the latest of several tracts taking up the myth. This is a small work called "The Secret of Mr. Justice Holmes," by Harold R. McKinnon, of San Francisco, a lawyer, who begins by saying that Holmes had a very bad philosophy yet ranks among the greatest men of our time.

"His philosophy was agnostic, materialistic, hopeless of the attainment of any ultimate truth, meaning or standard of value," Mr. McKinnon writes. "As a result, it is fundamentally indistinguishable from the moral realism of those regimes of force and power that are the scandal of the century. Nevertheless, his rank is preeminent. Devotion to him has become a cult."

Mr. McKinnon loses most of the audience who must make the final decision to repudiate Holmes when he resorts to such weapons as "agnostic" and "amoral realism." A newspaper editor, addressing the common intelligence, wouldn't use these terms. They

SONG OF CHRISTMAS

Christmas comes on wings of song
That echo Heaven's choirs again
When shepherds heard an angel throng . . .
Sing "Peace on Earth . . . Good Will to Men."

Through all the years since Christ was born
Our Christmas hymns have warmed the heart
And music always greets the morn
When joy and love play such a part.
The carols sung at Christmas time
Express the hope for peace to all
And though the world is out of rhyme
We sing of blessings . . . great and small.

The song of Christmas cheers the earth
And gives our lives a lovely glow . . .
The holly season spreads its mirth
In spite of all our global woe.
The world grows young for just awhile
When homes are trimmed in red and green . . .

Moose Hold Yule Party for Kiddies

Approximately 250 boys and girls were guests of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, Sunday afternoon, when Santa Claus arrived with a bagful of gifts at the clubrooms on Broadway and Thomas street.

For more than two hours the little guests enjoyed themselves singing carols, accepting presents and relishing the refreshments and candy handed out by Santa.

Little Sandra Mackey favored the assemblage with Hawaiian and tap dances as part of the entertainment, and a bazooka band played Christmas songs and popular numbers.

Santa entered the hall to the strains of Rudolph the Red Nosed Raindeer, carrying a large pack stuffed with gifts which he passed out to the youngsters.

One little fellow remarked, "Santa talks just like Al Ochner, and he's just as big. He'd have to be to carry a load like that."

Serving on the committee of arrangements for the party were Casper Zelickman, general chairman; Joseph Meyers, Charles Amato, Walter Fitzgerald, Elmer Williams, Gus Scharpf, Roland Purhamus, William Norton and Al Ochner.

Charles J. Turck, governor of the lodge, welcomed the children, and William Kilmer acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

Dozen Are Hurt In I.R.T. Mishap

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Twelve persons were injured, none seriously, today when they were thrown to the station platform as an IRT subway train started up with the doors open.

The Board of Transportation said the accident, at 125th Street and Lexington avenue, was caused by a motorman misunderstanding a signal.

The 10-car train was jammed with a rush-hour crowd of men and women enroute for work or on Christmas shopping trips.

As the train started forward, many were toppled to the platform. Passengers in the train screamed. Persons on the platform shouted. Some persons jumped to the platform, and others were pushed by the surging crowd.

The conductor pulled the emergency cord, and the train came to a sudden stop after moving about 20 feet. The quick stop hurled a number of passengers to the floors of the cars.

The Board of Transportation said that when the subway car doors jammed, the conductor pulled the signal cord three times to notify the motorman and ask him to summon a car inspector.

The board said the motorman reported he thought the conductor had pulled the cord only twice, signaling a "go-ahead."

Sheep, Cattle Disease Of Liver Is Spreading

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A disease that affects the liver of sheep and cattle is reported spreading "with alarming rapidity" in central New York.

The State College of Veterinary describes it as an "important threat" to the livestock industry of the nation, as well as the state.

There is no known control for the liver fluke disease. Scientists say it is spread by woodchucks and deer, with the help of a common land snail.

"Already packers are discriminating against slaughter cattle" from the central New York area affected because of the "loss from liver condemnations," the college reported yesterday.

The fluke causing the disorder is a small, leaf-like worm that lives in the liver of sheep or cattle. It causes severe disease in sheep. Cattle are not generally made sick, but the infected liver is unfit for human food.

The college said the disease was "well established" in at least six counties — Cortland, Madison, Cayuga, Oneida, Onondaga and Tompkins.

Howard Pleads Innocent

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—John Robert Howard, tennis pro and former husband of actress Diana Barrymore, pleaded innocent today to a two-count white slavery charge. The 27-year-old Howard was arrested last Oct. 27 in Laredo, Tex., on an indictment accusing him of transporting a woman from Los Angeles to New York city in 1948 for purposes of prostitution. A second count charged him with providing the woman with an airplane ticket in January, 1949, to go back to Los Angeles as a prostitute. The government claims Howard lured the unnamed woman, a Hollywood bit player, into the occupation.

Shorter School Course Scored by Public Group

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Public Education Association has criticized a proposal by the Board of Regents that high school courses be shortened to three years because of the national emergency.

"Far from improving the manpower situation, we see this recommendation as one actually weakening it," the association said in a letter to Chancellor William J. Wallin of the State Education Department.

"No other conclusion is possible if the value of high school training as a preparation for any type of military service is accepted."

The letter was signed by Frederick C. MacLaughlin, association director, and Mrs. Rose Shapiro, chairman of the PEA's Youth Education Committee.

The Regents' plan would provide a heavier study load during the regular school year and add summer sessions, so that by finishing high school in three years a pupil could attend college for one year before entering the armed forces.

Man Buys Bike at Red Price, Fined for Action

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The "Voice of America" reported today persons buying bicycles from a state store in Communist-run eastern Germany run the risk of being fined.

The State Department radio said a factory worker in the industrial city of Chemnitz was fined and lost the bike when he paid in cash the 680 marks price asked for the bicycle in the regular government store.

After he rode it home, the police charged him with violating a regulation forbidding any person to carry more than 100 marks. They returned the bicycle to the store.

The "Voice" identified the victim only as "Helmut." It said a friend of Helmut was told later at the store that the same bicycle had been sold three times in this manner.

Shoes shaped for right and left feet are only about 75 years old. Before that rights and lefts were identical.

Insurance Bill Passes

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—A bill giving each member of the armed services a $10,000 free life insurance policy was passed by the House today without a dissenting vote. The measure now goes to the Senate. It would make the insurance retroactive to June 27 to cover those who have died in the Korean war.

SONG OF CHRISTMAS

Christmas comes on wings of song
That echo Heaven's choirs again
When shepherds heard an angel throng . . .
Sing "Peace on Earth . . . Good Will to Men."

Through all the years since Christ was born
Our Christmas hymns have warmed the heart
And music always greets the morn
When joy and love play such a part.
The carols sung at Christmas time
Express the hope for peace to all
And though the world is out of rhyme
We sing of blessings . . . great and small.

The song of Christmas cheers the earth
And gives our lives a lovely glow . . .
The holly season spreads its mirth
In spite of all our global woe.
The world grows young for just awhile
When homes are trimmed in red and green . . .

Moose Hold Yule Party for Kiddies

Approximately 250 boys and girls were guests of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, Sunday afternoon, when Santa Claus arrived with a bagful of gifts at the clubrooms on Broadway and Thomas street.

For more than two hours the little guests enjoyed themselves singing carols, accepting presents and relishing the refreshments and candy handed out by Santa.

Little Sandra Mackey favored the assemblage with Hawaiian and tap dances as part of the entertainment, and a bazooka band played Christmas songs and popular numbers.

Santa entered the hall to the strains of Rudolph the Red Nosed Raindeer, carrying a large pack stuffed with gifts which he passed out to the youngsters.

One little fellow remarked, "Santa talks just like Al Ochner, and he's just as big. He'd have to be to carry a load like that."

Serving on the committee of arrangements for the party were Casper Zelickman, general chairman; Joseph Meyers, Charles Amato, Walter Fitzgerald, Elmer Williams, Gus Scharpf, Roland Purhamus, William Norton and Al Ochner.

Charles J. Turck, governor of the lodge, welcomed the children, and William Kilmer acted as master of ceremonies for the program.

Dozen Are Hurt In I.R.T. Mishap

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Twelve persons were injured, none seriously, today when they were thrown to the station platform as an IRT subway train started up with the doors open.

The Board of Transportation said the accident, at 125th Street and Lexington avenue, was caused by a motorman misunderstanding a signal.

The 10-car train was jammed with a rush-hour crowd of men and women enroute for work or on Christmas shopping trips.

As the train started forward, many were toppled to the platform. Passengers in the train screamed. Persons on the platform shouted. Some persons jumped to the platform, and others were pushed by the surging crowd.

The conductor pulled the emergency cord, and the train came to a sudden stop after moving about 20 feet. The quick stop hurled a number of passengers to the floors of the cars.

The Board of Transportation said that when the subway car doors jammed, the conductor pulled the signal cord three times to notify the motorman and ask him to summon a car inspector.

The board said the motorman reported he thought the conductor had pulled the cord only twice, signaling a "go-ahead."

Sheep, Cattle Disease Of Liver Is Spreading

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A disease that affects the liver of sheep and cattle is reported spreading "with alarming rapidity" in central New York.

The State College of Veterinary describes it as an "important threat" to the livestock industry of the nation, as well as the state.

There is no known control for the liver fluke disease. Scientists say it is spread by woodchucks and deer, with the help of a common land snail.

"Already packers are discriminating against slaughter cattle" from the central New York area affected because of the "loss from liver condemnations," the college reported yesterday.

The fluke causing the disorder is a small, leaf-like worm that lives in the liver of sheep or cattle. It causes severe disease in sheep. Cattle are not generally made sick, but the infected liver is unfit for human food.

The college said the disease was "well established" in at least six counties — Cortland, Madison, Cayuga, Oneida, Onondaga and Tompkins.

Howard Pleads Innocent

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—John Robert Howard, tennis pro and former husband of actress Diana Barrymore, pleaded innocent today to a two-count white slavery charge. The 27-year-old Howard was arrested last Oct. 27 in Laredo, Tex., on an indictment accusing him of transporting a woman from Los Angeles to New York city in 1948 for purposes of prostitution. A second count charged him with providing the woman with an airplane ticket in January, 1949, to go back to Los Angeles as a prostitute. The government claims Howard lured the unnamed woman, a Hollywood bit player, into the occupation.

Hurt in Bridge Crash

Miss Marion Zielinski, 21, of 198 North Hamtilton street, Poughkeepsie, received bruises about her face and head in an accident at the westerly approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge about 4 a. m. Sunday, state police reported. According to the report received by troopers, Miss Zielinski's automobile struck an automobile owned by Reginald White, 45, of 65 Catherine street, Poughkeepsie, that was parked along the highway near the bridge entrance. The White automobile was considerably damaged, troopers said.

Three Cases Are Settled In Supreme Court Today

Three cases were announced settled in Supreme court this morning on the call of the day calendar. Justice Elsworth announced that there probably would be no further additions to the calendar for the present term.

Announced as settled was No. 145, Barry G. Dunn, an infant, against Rudolph Gross, etc, a negligence action. N. Le Van Haver for plaintiff and Robert G. Ahlheim for defendant. No. 149, Samuel L. Lane against American Holy Synod, foreclosure. Benjamin H. Chasin for plaintiff and Morton Brauer for defendant. No. 151, Betty Gardner against Sarah Glassberg and others, recovery for death. Gross & Orseck for plaintiff and Johnson & McCann for defendant.

Two negligence actions were moved for trial. They were Patricia Smith, an infant by guardian, against Stanley Alpert and another, and Sylvia Heberling, an infant by guardian, against Stanley Alpert and another. N. LeVan Haver for plaintiff and John J. O'Connor for defendant.

Opening of the case was delayed when the court stenographer was reported ill and a substitute was sought.

Shorter School Course Scored by Public Group

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Public Education Association has criticized a proposal by the Board of Regents that high school courses be shortened to three years because of the national emergency.

"Far from improving the manpower situation, we see this recommendation as one actually weakening it," the association said in a letter to Chancellor William J. Wallin of the State Education Department.

"No other conclusion is possible if the value of high school training as a preparation for any type of military service is accepted."

The letter was signed by Frederick C. MacLaughlin, association director, and Mrs. Rose Shapiro, chairman of the PEA's Youth Education Committee.

The Regents' plan would provide a heavier study load during the regular school year and add summer sessions, so that by finishing high school in three years a pupil could attend college for one year before entering the armed forces.

Man Buys Bike at Red Price, Fined for Action

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—The "Voice of America" reported today persons buying bicycles from a state store in Communist-run eastern Germany run the risk of being fined.

The State Department radio said a factory worker in the industrial city of Chemnitz was fined and lost the bike when he paid in cash the 680 marks price asked for the bicycle in the regular government store.

After he rode it home, the police charged him with violating a regulation forbidding any person to carry more than 100 marks. They returned the bicycle to the store.

The "Voice" identified the victim only as "Helmut." It said a friend of Helmut was told later at the store that the same bicycle had been sold three times in this manner.

Shoes shaped for right and left feet are only about 75 years old. Before that rights and lefts were identical.

"BEHOLD, THE HOUR COMETH"
—John 16:32

Have you prayed for our boys overseas, tonight,
Do you think of the terrors they face and fight?
They are young and untried, like your boy and mine,
Yet with strength and courage and purpose divine,
They fight for their dear loved ones at home.
Oh, how can one put his thoughts in a poem,
We need thunder and lightning to set our hearts burning,
And wisdom and guidance to start the tide turning.
Awaken your slumbering spirit, do YOUR share,
There are things you can do tonight, if you care.
Let not the Yuletide pleasures dim your sight,
Pray for the boys overseas tonight.
Wake up your friends and kindly neighbors,
Give our sons a strong backing, a lift with their labors.
Arise and speak, and act and pray,
Be done with this foolish and fatal delay.
Now is the hour, while the torch is burning bright,
Have YOU prayed for our boys in Korea tonight?
MRS. RUTH SWARTHOUR HULL

Christmas was forbidden in America for 22 years because the Puritan fathers believed it was a pagan custom. In 1659 the General Court of Massachusetts enacted a law providing a fine of five shillings for every offense if a body be found observing, by abstinence from work, by celebrating or attending a religious service such a day as Christmas Day." England had enacted similar laws in about the same time, which were repealed in 1662. However, the Massachusetts law was not repealed until 1681.

Do You Remember

SOPHIE MILLER

Mention of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" the other day in this column brought interesting response from Mrs. J. Williams of 108 Second avenue, mother of Bill Williams, the musician. She said her father, James H. Cogan, used to mix the Kennedy preparations down in the Ferry street building. She remembered when her father used to bring home licorice, cherry and other items which went into the medicine. I think she said that once by mistake, her husband mistook the famous "Kennedy Golden Drops," eye drops, for a Kennedy cough syrup. Nothing more happened than that it tasted awful. She said she remembered Augustus Phillips taking the firm over later. Does anyone know what did finally happen to the "Favorite Remedy"? Henry Singer says, when he worked for the firm, Dr. Kennedy's son, the attorney, was in charge.

Attorney Henry Klein loaned me some Van Deusen's "At Century's Turn." There is one column on William D. Brinnier, who served as Kingston mayor in 1898-99 at which time there were nine wards instead of the present 13. I notice at the time the city water board consisted of S. D. Coykendall, Charles I.I. Preston, Frank A. Palen and Augustus J. Phillips. Perhaps it was the same Phillips which Mrs. Williams mentioned as connected with Dr. Kennedy's Remedy. The remedy was first introduced on the market in 1875 on Ferry street and later became world famous.

Who remembers when the Ponckhockie School was called Union Free School, No. 4. It was around 1900 and the principal was William A. McConnel. Teachers were Miss Sadie A. Schutt, Louise Deyo, Margaret McCullough, Genevieve Bishop, George Deudney, Florence Van Duzer and Miss Mary L. Deyo.

Looking through Van Deusen's columns, I see mention of Mayor Palmer Canfield very often. Van said he was the first man ever to serve Kingston as its mayor for four successive terms. He was not only the first but so far the only one thus elected. His knowledge of law and government gave him a fine background, and during his progressive administration the city's parking system was established. The Board of Public Works was established with full control of the city's parks, playgrounds, streets, sewers and lighting systems. In his street building program at least one permanent street was built each year. Canfield believed the Board of Public Works should lay out a permanent plan for street building until the entire street system had been rebuilt. So we owe many of the splendid streets of today to his administration. Before that the street building was in the hands of the Common Council. I see W. Scott Van Keuren was superintendent during Canfield's administration, according to Van, so must ask his brother Bill some day when he's not too busy at the Downtown Recreation Center.

Do you remember the Welcome Arch, between the city hall and the high school on Broadway, in honor of the boys who had served in the First World War of 1918? At the meeting of the Board of Public Works of January 20, 1922, it was decided to take it down. I don't remember any welcome arches since.

As Pegler Sees It

are not just meaningless. They are supercilious.

The foreword, by Mortimer J. Adler, professor of the philosophy of law of the University of Chicago, teed off gradualy. He said it was time that Holmes be taken off the pedestal. But two lines further on he began to mire and in the second paragraph he was talking about dogmatic pragmatism and raw empiricism.

In thanking Mr. McKinnon for his book I wished that those who examined this brutal old faker would use language that peope could understand.

"The phone rang as I was wading into your brochure," I told him. "It was Henry Taylor, who is a pretty good brain, I think you will agree. I said: 'How do you stand on dogmatic pragmatism and raw empiricism?' He said this could not be treated strictly as a black and white proposition.

"I once attended a philosophy class conducted by Adler and Hutchins. When it was over Hutchins asked me what I thought of it. I said: 'I don't know; I fell off the sled at the first turn!'

"I have looked up 'dialectic' and 'eclectic' and 'pragmatism' and 'empiricism' 50 times. I can't remember what they mean until the next time I run across them, I should think it would be possible to demolish this old scoundrel in a way comprehensible to the public. If you don't do it that way, you are not going to accomplish anything."

To this Mr. McKinnon replied: "You are right, of course, that that kind of talk won't budge Henry Wallace's common man. But my piece was written for profs and the like. I have to stick to my own line. Good luck. Continue to be dogmatic im not empirical."

I am not going to look up empirical again. I don't care what it means. I can put over the idea that Holmes was a vicious influence and became the god of an evil cult without resort to a tongue known to few outside the cult itself. But if McKinnon and Adler consider this to be their fight why shouldn't they use appropriate language? Are they too good to come down off their toes and slug?

Help Asked From U.N.

New Delhi, India, Dec. 18 (AP)—Delegates from a wild border region between Pakistan and Afghanistan have called for United Nations help in carving a new independent state—Pushtoonistan—from the territory. Some 100 delegates conferred here on the future of the 10,000 square mile, disputed area which has been the scene of border clashes in past months. They came up with a plea for U.N. intervention yesterday. Afghanistan says Pathan tribesmen are fighting to establish an independent Pushtoonistan, and supports their aspirations. Pakistan has not recognized the independence movement and says Pushtoonistan is largely a figment of Afghanistan's imagination.

To this Mr. McKinnon replied: "You are right, of course, that that kind of talk won't budge Henry Wallace's common man. But my piece was written for profs and the like. I have to stick to my own line. Good luck. Continue to be dogmatic im not empirical."

I am not going to look up empirical again. I don't care what it means. I can put over the idea that Holmes was a vicious influence and became the god of an evil cult without resort to a tongue known to few outside the cult itself. But if McKinnon and Adler consider this to be their fight why shouldn't they use appropriate language? Are they too good to come down off their toes and slug?

Help Asked From U.N.

New Delhi, India, Dec. 18 (AP)—Delegates from a wild border region between Pakistan and Afghanistan have called for United Nations help in carving a new independent state—Pushtoonistan—from the territory. Some 100 delegates conferred here on the future of the 10,000 square mile, disputed area which has been the scene of border clashes in past months. They came up with a plea for U.N. intervention yesterday. Afghanistan says Pathan tribesmen are fighting to establish an independent Pushtoonistan, and supports their aspirations. Pakistan has not recognized the independence movement and says Pushtoonistan is largely a figment of Afghanistan's imagination.

Regional Plan Association Doubts Suitability of Site

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—The Regional Plan Association has questioned whether the Tappan Zee site for the proposed Thruway bridge across the Hudson river would be suitable to the traffic needs of the area.

The association said yesterday in a statement that no substantial evidence had been made public to support selection of the crossing site, at the widest point of the river between South Nyack and Tarrytown.

The association called on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey to request public opinions from the Port of New York Authority and the New Jersey Turnpike Authority.

The site was selected by the New York State Thruway Authority, in charge of constructing a super-highway between Buffalo and New York city.

Should Not Have Say

Paul Windels, president of the Regional Plan Association, contended that the Thruway Authority should not have the lone say on the bridge site. He said the Thruway bridge should be able to accommodate the greatest amount of interstate traffic, rather than only localized upstate New York traffic.

The association statement also said the bridge should be located so as to give the greatest possible relief to New York city traffic congestion, and "do the least damage to the scenic beauty of the Hudson river valley."

The regional group, a voluntary organization seeking to promote coordinated development of the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut metropolitan area, asked:

"If a location farther south should be indicated as a superior site, why should it not be possible to make a joint arrangement among the three official agencies concerned whereby a bridge could be built at that location and each could share in the income in proportion to the traffic it generates?"

The association commented that "vehicular traffic is no respecter of political jurisdictions."

Doubts Service Value

The statement questioned whether the Tappan Zee site would properly serve traffic between New Jersey and Westchester county, N. Y., and New England. It said another Hudson crossing near the New York-New Jersey border on the west side of the river has been needed for a considerable time, and that traffic conditions will be still worse when the New Jersey turnpike is completed next year.

Local opposition to the bridge in the Tappan Zee area mounted today.

Application for a court injunction was planned in behalf of the villages of Nyack and South Nyack, Rockland county, seeking to prevent the thruway authority from acquiring property necessary for the western approaches to the bridge.

An injunction will be sought on the ground that the Legislature, in authorizing a bridge "south of Highland Falls," did not intend to authorize one as far south as the Tappan Zee.

South Nyack officials contend that construction of the bridge there would cause demolition of 100-odd homes and other buildings valued at $2,000,000.

The Tappan Zee Civic Association and officials of the two villages planned to protest that the bridge at the proposed site would be a hazard to navigation. The protest will be made at a hearing to be held here Jan. 4 by the army engineers, whose approval of the site is required.

Asbury Has Big Blaze

Asbury Park, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—A $100,000 general alarm fire raged through a tavern and a men's clothing store in the heart of the midtown shopping district early today but no one was reported injured. Fire Chief Michael Ryan reported the blaze under control just before 5 a. m. this morning—three and a half hours after the first alarm was turned in. He said the cause of the blaze had not been determined. A subfreezing temperature which coated hose lines and streets with a layer of ice hampered fire fighters. Three other fire departments—Ocean Grove, Neptune and Allenhurst—joined Asbury Park in the battle.

Opening lead—♠ 9

Like many other people, bridge players often waste a great deal of time arguing about the wrong things. For example, when today's hand was actually played, North and South went into a long postmortem about the bidding. However, nobody had a word to say about the way the hand was played.

West opened the nine of spades, and dummy won with the king. A trump was led next from dummy, and East took his ace of hearts at once. He returned his singleton nine of clubs, West winning with the ace.

Naturally, West recognized this lead as a singleton, and he therefore returned the queen of clubs. The king of clubs was played from dummy, and East ruffed. East made a safe exit with his last trump, since a diamond return might be dangerous. South then led out the rest of his trumps, hoping for some sort of squeeze. Nothing worked, however, and South had to give up a diamond trick at the end.

When the play had ended, North pointed out that three no-trump would have been a cinch even if East miraculously led a club. (Against any other lead three no-trump would have been even easier.) North insisted that South should have bid three no-trump instead of jumping to four hearts. South maintained just as stoutly that game at a good six-card major suit is usually safer than a game of no-trump "I had no way of knowing about that ruff," said South. "Without that ruff four hearts would have been ice cold."

North was right in the bidding argument. Three no-trump would have been an excellent contract, and South had no reason to fear it. However, South should have made his contract of four hearts in spite of the club ruff.

The play was perfectly correct up to the trick at which West led the queen of clubs. But then it should have been perfectly clear to South that East was going to ruff the trick. Therefore declarer should have played a low club from dummy!

At this stage the defenders would have three tricks. It West lead another club (his best chance), South would ruff in his own hand, and draw trumps. Eventually South would be able to discard his losing diamond on dummy's king of clubs.

The vital point that South missed was that the king of clubs would be just as valuable a trick if taken later on. There was no need to waste it when East was sure to ruff.

Peace and Good Will

By FRANK TRIPP

Just what is peace on earth, good will to men? Is it something to get or something to give? The Christmas cards don't say. Where do you get peace and good will if you haven't any?

A child asked me these questions. He was confused. Not half as confused as I, who couldn't answer him—not so he could understand. That convinced me that I didn't understand either. Therefore I thought hard about it.

If peace and good will could be bought in stores more people would have them. Anyway everybody would know that they were something anybody could have — for a price. And once in a while there'd be a clearance sale and peace and good will would be marked down. A bit shopworn maybe—or perhaps out of style.

When I got that far I thought I had the answer. Out of style, that's it! Why, it was simple enough, all of the time. Plain, wholesome, ordinary folks, who don't worry much about fashion, seem to have the most peace. Then, when you need something that money won't buy—sympathy, affection, pity or downright drudgery for the good they can do—they're the ones who seem to have the most good will.

Sure, I see it now. You get peace and good will but you don't keep it You give it away. And the more you give the more you have. That doesn't make sense, but it must be true, for I checked it against people I know.

THERE'LL BE all kinds of Christmases this troubled year. There'll be houses where the day will pass almost unnoticed. There'll be those where cranky children quarrel over vulgar stacks of gifts—enough for a whole orphanage. There'll be others where a mother's kiss, a father's smile and crude home-made toys will keep a kiddie happy all day long.

If you're out looking for peace and good will, search out that home. Or any time you need whet your faith in humankind, go there.

Oh yes, there's many a place where the counterfeit can be had—glamour and conviviality. But the genuine article dwells in humble hearts and lowly places.

I have written of a man and place where peace abounds for me. I called him the richest man I know. His little shop is my haven and retreat. I go there to drink content with life, to view his reward for love of fellow man; to seek the formulae.

COVETOUSNESS and greed have never crossed the threshold of this spot. Its master radiates happiness and understanding as he hums his days into four score years of the only wealth that can endure—the wealth of warmth which kindness wrought. He proves to me that peace cannot be bought. It must be earned.

So I'm going back and try to make a story that my little friend can grasp. I'll tell him that good will is the kind things we think about people, the nice things we do for them; and that peace is what we get for doing it.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Wasted Tricks Can Mean Trouble

By QSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Like many other people, bridge players often waste a great deal of time arguing about the wrong things. For example, when today's hand was actually played, North and South went into a long post-mortem about the bidding. However, nobody had a word to say about the way the hand was played.

West opened the nine of spades, and dummy won with the king. A trump was led next from dummy, and East took his ace of hearts at once. He returned his singleton nine of clubs, West winning with the ace.

Naturally, West recognized this lead as a singleton, and he therefore returned the queen of clubs. The king of clubs was played from dummy, and East ruffed. East made a safe exit with his last trump, since a diamond return might be dangerous. South then led out the rest of his trumps, hoping for some sort of squeeze. Nothing worked, however, and South had to give up a diamond trick at the end.

When the play had ended, North pointed out that three no-trump would have been a cinch even if East miraculously led a club. (Against any other lead three no-trump would have been even easier.) North insisted that South should have bid three no-trump instead of jumping to four hearts. South maintained just as stoutly that game at a good six-card major suit is usually safer than a game of no-trump "I had no way of knowing about that ruff," said South. "Without that ruff four hearts would have been ice cold."

North was right in the bidding argument. Three no-trump would have been an excellent contract, and South had no reason to fear it. However, South should have made his contract of four hearts in spite of the club ruff.

The play was perfectly correct up to the trick at which West led the queen of clubs. But then it should have been perfectly clear to South that East was going to ruff the trick. Therefore declarer should have played a low club from dummy!

At this stage the defenders would have three tricks. It West lead another club (his best chance), South would ruff in his own hand, and draw trumps. Eventually South would be able to discard his losing diamond on dummy's king of clubs.

The vital point that South missed was that the king of clubs would be just as valuable a trick if taken later on. There was no need to waste it when East was sure to ruff.

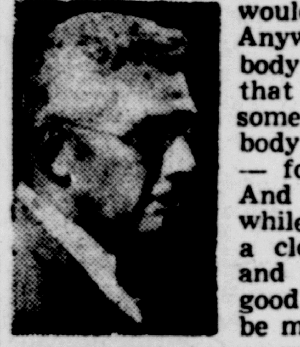
Peace and Good Will

By FRANK TRIPP

Just what is peace on earth, good will to men? Is it something to get or something to give? The Christmas cards don't say. Where do you get peace and good will if you haven't any?

A child asked me these questions. He was confused. Not half as confused as I, who couldn't answer him—not so he could understand. That convinced me that I didn't understand either. Therefore I thought hard about it.



If peace and good will could be bought in stores more people would have them. Anyway everybody would know that they were something anybody could have — for a price. And once in a while there'd be a clearance sale and peace and good will would be marked down. A bit shopworn maybe—or perhaps out of style.

When I got that far I thought I had the answer. Out of style, that's it! Why, it was simple enough, all of the time. Plain, wholesome, ordinary folks, who don't worry much about fashion, seem to have the most peace. Then, when you need something that money won't buy—sympathy, affection, pity or downright drudgery for the good they can do—they're the ones who seem to have the most good will.

Sure, I see it now. You get peace and good will but you don't keep it You give it away. And the more you give the more you have. That doesn't make sense, but it must be true, for I checked it against people I know.

THERE'LL BE all kinds of Christmases this troubled year. There'll be houses where the day will pass almost unnoticed. There'll be those where cranky children quarrel over vulgar stacks of gifts—enough for a whole orphanage. There'll be others where a mother's kiss, a father's smile and crude home-made toys will keep a kiddie happy all day long.

If you're out looking for peace and good will, search out that home. Or any time you need whet your faith in humankind, go there.

Oh yes, there's many a place where the counterfeit can be had—glamour and conviviality. But the genuine article dwells in humble hearts and lowly places.

I have written of a man and place where peace abounds for me. I called him the richest man I know. His little shop is my haven and retreat. I go there to drink content with life, to view his reward for love of fellow man; to seek the formulae.

COVETOUSNESS and greed have never crossed the threshold of this spot. Its master radiates happiness and understanding as he hums his days into four score years of the only wealth that can endure—the wealth of warmth which kindness wrought. He proves to me that peace cannot be bought. It must be earned.

So I'm going back and try to make a story that my little friend can grasp. I'll tell him that good will is the kind things we think about people, the nice things we do for them; and that peace is what we get for doing it.

Fastest U. S. Jet

an F-86 has participated he did a victory roll over the runway.

The cheering men of this base then knew the answer before the colonel brought the sleek fighter in for a landing.

Hinton grinned and said:

"I caught him and let him have it and down he went. The Sabre is the best there is."

The 31-year-old, six-foot Hinton told this story of the battle:

"The boys and myself had planned to lay a little trap for the enemy by flying at a very low air speed. So we flew very slowly around the area for 10 or 15 minutes. We were at 25,000 feet when we spotted them at 18,000 feet, flying level or slightly climbing and going very fast.

"As we dove in to the attack we kept our battle formation—a good offensive formation. We headed down on them. They started a hard turn to the right and as we closed in on them we started a harder turn to the right and turned inside of them. We got right in behind them.

"It was then that they let go their wing tanks and shoved on the coal. We dropped our tanks too and we poured on the coal. We eased up on them, although they were going like hell. I picked out a target plane. And I closed in gradually on him. When I was in range I let go with a burst.

"I could see the tracer bullets hitting him. They damaged him. I could tell because he wiggled a bit in the air. I continued firing. The guy started burning and smoking very badly.

"The smoke decreased and a bunch of flame came out of him and he slowed down. He appeared to go out of control.

"By that time I was within 600 or 800 feet of him. As he went down I had my air brakes on, but he was going too slow for me to follow. The last time I saw, he was out of control and on his way down."

Lt. Paul W. Bryce, Jr., of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., another member of the flight, was the last to see the stricken enemy plane. He said:

"The fellow was about 3,000 feet and was spinning down, definitely out of control. I am sure he never was able to pull out of that spin."

The railroad platform at Sonepur, India, extends 2,415 feet and is believed to be the world's longest.

Enlistments Increase

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A rush of enlistees, unusual for a pre-Christmas week, was reported by army, air force and navy recruiting offices today. Officials attributed the increased number of volunteers to the President's declaration of a national emergency. At the army and air force recruiting headquarters, more than 50 young men were waiting to be interviewed. An army spokesman said that normally there was only a handful. Navy recruiting officials reported twice as many enlistees as normal. The marines reported "an average day."

Fire Leaders to Meet

Fire department officials from five counties will meet Tuesday, December 19, at 8 p. m., at the Myron J. Michael School to be given instruction on fire mobilization and control during air raids. The course, to be given by the Bureau of Fire Mobilization and Control of the State Division of Safety, includes instructions on effects of bombings, fire problems in bombed out areas, fire department radiological safety measures and personal safety measures for firemen.

Civil Defense Meeting

A Civil Defense meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Common Council chamber at the city hall. All reception center workers and those who will canvass wards of the city are asked to attend.

Ships, Artillery

Monday. Some artillery was spotted in the west.

A 10th Corps spokesman said about 900 Reds were killed Sunday by marine and navy air strikes and naval gunfire within a 60-mile radius of Hungnam.

Raked by Cruisers

The approaches to the beachhead were raked by the U. S. heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester. Destroyers stepped up the bombardment with five-inch guns. A navy summary said the fire had made a "no man's land" of the defense perimeter's out fringes.

The beachhead is the allies' last major position north of Parallel 38, the old boundary between North and South Korea.

MacArthur's Monday war summary warned of intensified guerrilla activity. Air observers reported increased movement of refugees toward allied lines in Northwest Korea. Guerrillas frequently intermingle with the thousands of frightened civilians.

Radio Moscow said in a Korean language broadcast that Communists killed 800 Americans and South Koreans in a battle at Yonchon Thursday.

South Koreans have been battling North Korean guerrillas in that area, about 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

Planes Hit Bases

Far East Air Forces (FEAF) warplanes smashed at Red bases and communications throughout North Korea. By midday Monday, Fifth Air Force pilots reported more than 300 Red troops killed or wounded. Fighter planes strafed and fire-bombed 11 towns.

B-29 superforts, grounded by snowstorms Saturday, hit two major Red communications centers Sunday, Wonsan on the east coast and Chinnampo on the west coast. B-26 light bombers blasted three trains in the Kunu area of northwest Korea Sunday.

In all of Sunday's operations, the FEAF reported destroying or damaging nearly 500 buildings, 50 railroad cars, 10 locomotives, two bridges, four tanks, 17 gun positions and 70 vehicles.

But the day's most spectacular aerial action was the first combat test of America's fastest jet fighter. An F-86 Sabre flown by Lt. Col. Bruce H. Hinton of Stockton, Calif., sent a Russian-built Mig 15 jet spinning to earth in flames near Sinuiju, in extreme northwest Korea.

The F-86 was one of a flight of four. The new jets arrived in Korea Friday and flew their first mission on that day without meeting any red fighters. The Sabre holds the official world speed record of 670.981 miles an hour.

A.W.O.L. Held Here

Wilfred Edward Hahn, 18, of 135 Jansen avenue, was arrested on Broadway near West Strand at 8:30 p. m., Sunday by Officers George Bowers and Carl Janasiewicz on the charge that he was absent without leave from the U. S. Army. A message was sent to military authorities at Albany and Hahn was held to await their arrival. Police said Hahn was in full uniform and "neat" when he was arrested.

Suffers Nose Injury When Car Hits Pillar

Despite hazardous traffic conditions in some areas following Friday's snowstorm only one person was reported injured in a traffic mishap in the city over the weekend.

Robert Hluboky, 21, of Long Island City, suffered a nose injury when the car in which he was riding, headed into the city over the Washington avenue viaduct, struck a concrete pillar Sunday.

Officer Ernest Bartroff reported at 1:40 p. m., that the sedan, operated by Frederick W. Schaffer, of Long Island City, skidded in slush. It damaged the post and three guard rails on the north side of the structure. The car was badly damaged in its front and was towed away.

St. Ann's Church

ton after several more telephone calls had been received here stating that the fire appeared serious. Glasco fire department was notified and covered the Mt. Marion-Ruby area.

Had Sufficient Water

Chief Scheffel said firemen had sufficient water to bring the fire under control. The Wicks company from Kingston, drew water from the creek and charged a two and one-half inch line to the fire, but did not need to begin pumping operations as the water carried on the several pieces of apparatus proved sufficient.

Ulster Hose Company was under direction of Chief Joe Dyer, and the Wicks Engine Company was in charge of Captain A. Foster Winfield. Firemen remained at the scene about two and a half hours. Chief Scheffel, as head of the first due company under the mutual aid system, was in over-all charge of firemen at the scene.

Firemen Are Commended

Clergymen highly commended the firemen this morning. From St. Mary's rectory in Kingston, it was reported that the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, said the firemen did an excellent job, both in quick response to the call and in their work after arrival at the fire.

Father Dunnigan said the firemen did a "very fine" job in confining the fire and preventing extensive damage. He noted that firemen worked carefully and in one instance removed a Station of the Cross from the wall to prevent its damage.

Fire Chief Murphy of Kingston also responded to the alarm and observed operations at the scene. He added his compliments to the others received by the volunteer firemen.

Late Bulletin

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Motors Corporation today ordered Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac dealers to halt the sale of 1951 model cars received from the factory today or hereafter. It said the government's price rollback order of Saturday was responsible.

The Economic Stabilization Agency ordered prices of all automobiles rolled back to Dec. 1 levels. GM, Chrysler, Ford and Nash had announced higher price tags for new models since that date.

There was no immediate indication whether the other affected car manufacturers might halt sale of their cars too, pending review of the government price order.

Voluntary Clamp

tory price level which prevailed Dec. 1.

This wiped out price increases averaging about five per cent which had been announced by GM, Ford, Chrysler and Nash. Nash said it would comply. Chrysler had no comment on the order.

All four firms had contended that price increases were needed to meet rising costs of material and labor.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said on a radio forum yesterday he could not predict whether it will be necessary to draft manpower and freeze persons in their jobs.

Sawyer also said his department will issue within a few days an order controlling use of copper. He said it will list some less useful products whose manufacture will be curtailed to save the metal for defense purposes.

Enlistments Increase

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A rush of enlistees, unusual for a pre-Christmas week, was reported by army, air force and navy recruiting offices today. Officials attributed the increased number of volunteers to the President's declaration of a national emergency. At the army and air force recruiting headquarters, more than 50 young men were waiting to be interviewed. An army spokesman said that normally there was only a handful. Navy recruiting officials reported twice as many enlistees as normal. The marines reported "an average day."

Fire Leaders to Meet

Fire department officials from five counties will meet Tuesday, December 19, at 8 p. m., at the Myron J. Michael School to be given instruction on fire mobilization and control during air raids. The course, to be given by the Bureau of Fire Mobilization and Control of the State Division of Safety, includes instructions on effects of bombings, fire problems in bombed out areas, fire department radiological safety measures and personal safety measures for firemen.

Civil Defense Meeting

A Civil Defense meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Common Council chamber at the city hall. All reception center workers and those who will canvass wards of the city are asked to attend.

Ships, Artillery

Monday. Some artillery was spotted in the west.

A 10th Corps spokesman said about 900 Reds were killed Sunday by marine and navy air strikes and naval gunfire within a 60-mile radius of Hungnam.

Raked by Cruisers

The approaches to the beachhead were raked by the U. S. heavy cruisers St. Paul and Rochester. Destroyers stepped up the bombardment with five-inch guns. A navy summary said the fire had made a "no man's land" of the defense perimeter's out fringes.

The beachhead is the allies' last major position north of Parallel 38, the old boundary between North and South Korea.

MacArthur's Monday war summary warned of intensified guerrilla activity. Air observers reported increased movement of refugees toward allied lines in Northwest Korea. Guerrillas frequently intermingle with the thousands of frightened civilians.

Radio Moscow said in a Korean language broadcast that Communists killed 800 Americans and South Koreans in a battle at Yonchon Thursday.

Planes Hit Bases

Far East Air Forces (FEAF) warplanes smashed at Red bases and communications throughout North Korea. By midday Monday, Fifth Air Force pilots reported more than 300 Red troops killed or wounded. Fighter planes strafed and fire-bombed 11 towns.

B-29 superforts, grounded by snowstorms Saturday, hit two major Red communications centers Sunday, Wonsan on the east coast and Chinnampo on the west coast. B-26 light bombers blasted three trains in the Kunu area of northwest Korea Sunday.

In all of Sunday's operations, the FEAF reported destroying or damaging nearly 500 buildings, 50 railroad cars, 10 locomotives, two bridges, four tanks, 17 gun positions and 70 vehicles.

But the day's most spectacular aerial action was the first combat test of America's fastest jet fighter. An F-86 Sabre flown by Lt. Col. Bruce H. Hinton of Stockton, Calif., sent a Russian-built Mig 15 jet spinning to earth in flames near Sinuiju, in extreme northwest Korea.

The F-86 was one of a flight of four. The new jets arrived in Korea Friday and flew their first mission on that day without meeting any red fighters. The Sabre holds the official world speed record of 670.981 miles an hour.

A.W.O.L. Held Here

Wilfred Edward Hahn, 18, of 135 Jansen avenue, was arrested on Broadway near West Strand at 8:30 p. m., Sunday by Officers George Bowers and Carl Janasiewicz on the charge that he was absent without leave from the U. S. Army. A message was sent to military authorities at Albany and Hahn was held to await their arrival. Police said Hahn was in full uniform and "neat" when he was arrested.

Suffers Nose Injury When Car Hits Pillar

Despite hazardous traffic conditions in some areas following Friday's snowstorm only one person was reported injured in a traffic mishap in the city over the weekend.

Robert Hluboky, 21, of Long Island City, suffered a nose injury when the car in which he was riding, headed into the city over the Washington avenue viaduct, struck a concrete pillar Sunday.

Officer Ernest Bartroff reported at 1:40 p. m., that the sedan, operated by Frederick W. Schaffer, of Long Island City, skidded in slush. It damaged the post and three guard rails on the north side of the structure. The car was badly damaged in its front and was towed away.

St. Ann's Church

ton after several more telephone calls had been received here stating that the fire appeared serious. Glasco fire department was notified and covered the Mt. Marion-Ruby area.

Had Sufficient Water

Chief Scheffel said firemen had sufficient water to bring the fire under control. The Wicks company from Kingston, drew water from the creek and charged a two and one-half inch line to the fire, but did not need to begin pumping operations as the water carried on the several pieces of apparatus proved sufficient.

Ulster Hose Company was under direction of Chief Joe Dyer, and the Wicks Engine Company was in charge of Captain A. Foster Winfield. Firemen remained at the scene about two and a half hours. Chief Scheffel, as head of the first due company under the mutual aid system, was in over-all charge of firemen at the scene.

Firemen Are Commended

Clergymen highly commended the firemen this morning. From St. Mary's rectory in Kingston, it was reported that the Very Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, said the firemen did an excellent job, both in quick response to the call and in their work after arrival at the fire.

Father Dunnigan said the firemen did a "very fine" job in confining the fire and preventing extensive damage. He noted that firemen worked carefully and in one instance removed a Station of the Cross from the wall to prevent its damage.

Fire Chief Murphy of Kingston also responded to the alarm and observed operations at the scene. He added his compliments to the others received by the volunteer firemen.

Late Bulletin

Detroit, Dec. 18 (AP)—General Motors Corporation today ordered Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac dealers to halt the sale of 1951 model cars received from the factory today or hereafter. It said the government's price rollback order of Saturday was responsible.

The Economic Stabilization Agency ordered prices of all automobiles rolled back to Dec. 1 levels. GM, Chrysler, Ford and Nash had announced higher price tags for new models since that date.

There was no immediate indication whether the other affected car manufacturers might halt sale of their cars too, pending review of the government price order.

Voluntary Clamp

tory price level which prevailed Dec. 1.

This wiped out price increases averaging about five per cent which had been announced by GM, Ford, Chrysler and Nash. Nash said it would comply. Chrysler had no comment on the order.

All four firms had contended that price increases were needed to meet rising costs of material and labor.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said on a radio forum yesterday he could not predict whether it will be necessary to draft manpower and freeze persons in their jobs.

Sawyer also said his department will issue within a few days an order controlling use of copper. He said it will list some less useful products whose manufacture will be curtailed to save the metal for defense purposes.

Unseasonably Cold Weather Spreads in Eastern Part of US

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP) — Unseasonably cold weather had spread over almost all the eastern half of the nation today.

Temperatures had begun to drop all along the eastern seaboard as far south as Jacksonville, Fla., which had an early low of 42 degrees. A Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala., the mercury hit a chilling 26, while Charleston, S. C., had 30.

The weather bureau said the temperatures in the east would continue their downward trend as more of the cold wave from the midwest moved in.

More light snow fell early today in the upper Missouri river valley and in the Great Lakes area and northeastern states.

There was no relief in sight from the cold weather over the northern middlewest. Temperatures at many points in the area were zero or colder. Rochester, Minn., with 26 below zero, was the coldest spot. Over the rest of the western half of the nation temperatures generally were around normal.

850 Empire Market Workers to Get Bonus

Christmas bonuses for all its employes have been announced by Henry Schaffer, president of the Empire Super Markets and Schaffer Stores which operate a large chain of food markets in the eastern New York state area.

Bonuses of U. S. Approximately 850 will benefit by this plan of sharing in the company's progress.

A special benefits plan was adopted earlier this year for all Empire Markets' employes entering the armed services. Each employe received two weeks' salary plus earned vacation pay, and is presented with a special wrist watch gift from the company.

College Students Home for Recess

Canton, Dec. 18—A group of 11 students from Kingston and the surrounding area returned to their homes Saturday from St. Lawrence University for the Christmas recess. They will return to Canton January 1.

Dorfelmian Club Holds Yule Party

The Dorfelmian Club of the First Presbyterian Church met for a Christmas party Wednesday evening. Games were played, and refreshments were served. Members of the refreshment committee included Mrs. Harold Wynkoop, Mrs. Robert Southard, and Miss Audrey Shultis.

The group also held election of officers. New officers are Mrs. Ruth Southard, president; Miss Joan Sickler, vice president; Mrs. Russell Fallon, secretary; and Mrs. Howard Stephens, treasurer.

Marriage License Procured

New York, Dec. 15 (Special)—Miss Genevieve Murphy, of Fairmount avenue, Jersey City, N. J., and Irving Dayton Smith of Ellenville, secured a marriage license at the Municipal Building here today.

The couple said they would be married in the Church of the Holy Innocents in New York Saturday, Dec. 16.

Miss Murphy, a native of New York, is the daughter of John and Nora Murphy. Her prospective husband, who is the son of John and Adella Smith, was born in Ellenville.

Coach House Players Select First Cast For King Comedy

The Coach House Players have announced the cast for "See How They Run," the group's forthcoming production which will be presented January 25 at the high school auditorium. Proceeds will be used to establish a scholarship fund.

"See How They Run," a Philip King comedy, reveals a kinship to "Charley's Aunt," the group has announced, with the cast's male membership contributing much to the production's general hilarity. Certainly the comedy itself gives each member of the cast ample opportunity to create a memorable character role.

The play's action ebbs and flows about the vicar of a suburban English parish, with Irving Rose cast as the British clergyman. The vicar's wife of a year, Penelope, played by Doris Dodd, is an ex-actress, and tinder for the smoke and fire which sets the play in motion. Other members of the cast include Kay Burgevin as Miss Skillon; Robert Russell as the sky pilot, Clive; Dennis Brady as the visiting bishop; William Hawk as the visiting clergyman; Terry Roberts as the Cockney maid; Lorne Swayzie as the escaped "Rahssian" prisoner, and George Hard as a member of the military police.

The production will be directed by Houston Richards, and will be set in a beautiful British vicarage. This will be the first play of the season for the associate and patron memberships.

Ree-Laine Group Has Holiday Dinner

A group of employes from the Ree-Laine Co., Inc. held a pre-holiday party and dinner at the Evergreen Inn Wednesday at 7 p. m. Dancing and singing were also enjoyed. During the evening a gift was presented to Mrs. Peggy Hornbeck, chairman, and the group made plans for a Valentine party.

Coach House Players Select First Cast For King Comedy

The Coach House Players have announced the cast for "See How They Run," the group's forthcoming production which will be presented January 25 at the high school auditorium. Proceeds will be used to establish a scholarship fund.

"See How They Run," a Philip King comedy, reveals a kinship to "Charley's Aunt," the group has announced, with the cast's male membership contributing much to the production's general hilarity. Certainly the comedy itself gives each member of the cast ample opportunity to create a memorable character role.

The play's action ebbs and flows about the vicar of a suburban English parish, with Irving Rose cast as the British clergyman. The vicar's wife of a year, Penelope, played by Doris Dodd, is an ex-actress, and tinder for the smoke and fire which sets the play in motion. Other members of the cast include Kay Burgevin as Miss Skillon; Robert Russell as the sky pilot, Clive; Dennis Brady as the visiting bishop; William Hawk as the visiting clergyman; Terry Roberts as the Cockney maid; Lorne Swayzie as the escaped "Rahssian" prisoner, and George Hard as a member of the military police.

The production will be directed by Houston Richards, and will be set in a beautiful British vicarage. This will be the first play of the season for the associate and patron memberships.

Airlift Is Asked

Tokyo, Dec. 18 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force was called on today to airlift Christmas presents to Korea for 24th Division Infantrymen, normally based in Japan. Wives of division members prepared three tons of presents, mostly candies, cakes, cookies, nuts, canned delicacies and other foods.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

EXAMPLE OF BAD TASTE

An all-too-characteristic example of what one should not say is given in the following letter: "Don't you think it bad manners for friends to make remarks about a childless couple not having children? My husband and I both resent this and think it unnecessary to go into details as to why we have none."

Personal questions such as this one are always in bad taste and there is no reason why you should feel obliged to discuss a subject which concerns no one but your husband and yourself.

Not Rude to Omit House Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently invited my mother and father to come and spend a week at my house. While they were here, a friend of mine called and invited my husband and me to dinner and did not include my parents. I declined and explained that I did not want to leave them alone. Mother was very much hurt over this and thinks I should have accepted. She said that a house guest does not keep one from accepting invitations. I feel that every house guest should be included in invitations, and if not, the hosts should refuse to go and leave their guests to look after themselves. Will you please give me your opinion.

Answer: For the hostess to have omitted an invitation to your parents was not necessarily rude. She may not have known they were staying with you, or maybe she could not seat two more at her table. On the other hand, you are right in your belief that you could not have left your parents alone, excepting under very special circumstances, when they were staying with you for only one week.

Dance Question

Dear Mrs. Post: After I've finished a dance with a boy who has cut in on my partner, how do I manage to get back to my own friends who are on the far side of the dance floor?

Answer: Ask him to take you to them.

When should place cards be used? Where should salt cellars and pepper pots be placed on the table? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-30 gives details for table setting and service. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

EXAMPLE OF BAD TASTE

An all-too-characteristic example of what one should not say is given in the following letter: "Don't you think it bad manners for friends to make remarks about a childless couple not having children? My husband and I both resent this and think it unnecessary to go into details as to why we have none."

Personal questions such as this one are always in bad taste and there is no reason why you should feel obliged to discuss a subject which concerns no one but your husband and yourself.

Not Rude to Omit House Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: I recently invited my mother and father to come and spend a week at my house. While they were here, a friend of mine called and invited my husband and me to dinner and did not include my parents. I declined and explained that I did not want to leave them alone. Mother was very much hurt over this and thinks I should have accepted. She said that a house guest does not keep one from accepting invitations. I feel that every house guest should be included in invitations, and if not, the hosts should refuse to go and leave their guests to look after themselves. Will you please give me your opinion.

Answer: For the hostess to have omitted an invitation to your parents was not necessarily rude. She may not have known they were staying with you, or maybe she could not seat two more at her table. On the other hand, you are right in your belief that you could not have left your parents alone, excepting under very special circumstances, when they were staying with you for only one week.

Dance Question

Dear Mrs. Post: After I've finished a dance with a boy who has cut in on my partner, how do I manage to get back to my own friends who are on the far side of the dance floor?

Answer: Ask him to take you to them.

When should place cards be used? Where should salt cellars and pepper pots be placed on the table? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-30 gives details for table setting and service. Royals Defeat Recs, 118-105; Woodridge Atoms Play Here Tonight

Mueller Paces Middies With 35; Baker Sinks 32

Point Total Believed Record for Two Teams

Tonight's Lineups

Recreations		Woodridge Atoms
L. Holstein	f	Shields
Kleine	f	Novodgrosky
Mathers	c	Stein
Neff	g	Miller
Sagendorf	g	Jackman

You score 105 points and still get licked!

That was the sad fate of the high scoring Recreation quintet Saturday night in Middletown, when they dropped 118-105 decision to the defending champion Royals.

Unofficially, this was believed to be a record for two teams since the O-S League was organized a couple of years ago.

(Tonight the Recreations engage the powerful, undefeated Woodridge Atoms, with Jackie Stein, Walt Shields, and Joe Novodgrosky, at the municipal auditorium. The Atoms walloped Monticello Saturday night, 95-68, Shields hitting for 36 points and Stein 24. Game time is 8:30 p. m. at the municipal auditorium.)

The Recs' inability to handle Fritz Mueller and Dick Baker again spelled doom against the Royals. Mueller, one of the circuit's leading scorers racked up 35 points and Baker hit for 32. Clemmer tossed in 21 from a guard slot.

Manager Murphy's Recs showed a good distribution of scoring power—12 of the 13 players crashing the score column—but could not come up with a couple of fireballs to cope with Mueller and Baker.

It was a seething battle all the way, with the Recs once overcoming a 16-point deficit to lead 58-57 and later 70-69. A short while later, Mueller and Baker went on a spree that zoomed the Royals to a 82-70 margin and they stayed in front for the remainder of the game.

Charlie Neff, veteran cager who has been conditioning himself slowly, blossomed out as the Recreations' top scorer with 22 points. Three others hit double figures—Andy Juhl with 17, Frank Sass 12 and Big Bill Kleine 10.

Havana Golf To Jim Turnesa

Havana, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fashioning a last round 65 with the help of an eagle and five birdies, Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., member of the famed U. S. golfing family, won the Havana Invitation golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 267.

Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., had a chance to get Turnesa, but had putting difficulty in the last nine holes and finished second with a 68 and final score of 270. Four of Cooper's putts ringed the cup and failed to drop. One of them actually disappeared from sight then spun out onto the green.

Turnesa missed some close putts, too, but he made enough to win the $1,500 first prize. In addition he won another $1,500 in the pro-amateur competition which ended Friday.

Defending champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., shot a blistering eight-under-par 64 to lead the last round, but he gained only a tie for third place at 273 with Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. Barron got a 68 in his last round.

"It was a good day for me," Turnesa said. "I played pretty good golf. The weather was bright and sunny and I had some good luck. My best putt was for about 15 feet on the 16th for a birdie two. My game was good enough that I didn't have to get into a strain."

Turnesa's other birdies came on the first hole, seventh, 12th and 15th. On the par five second, both he and Cooper got eagle three's.

Rams, Browns Win Division Titles; Championship Playoff Next Sunday

Brownies Defeat Giants, 8 to 3

It will be Los Angeles Rams offense against the Cleveland Browns defense when they clash in Cleveland Sunday for the National Football League championship.

In yesterday's divisional playoffs, the Rams won the National conference title by whipping the Chicago Bears, 24-14, before 83,501 customers basking in 92-degree heat at Los Angeles. It was the other extreme at Cleveland where, in 17-degree frigidity, the Browns captured the American Conference crown with an 8-3 triumph over the New York Giants.

Both teams wore sneakers at Cleveland to get a better grip on the hard, frozen field. This contest drew 33,054 shivering fans.

Revenge was sweet for both winners. The Rams had lost their two regular season clashes with the Bears, as had the Browns to the Giants. Cleveland, four-time champion of the defunct All-America Conference, now seeks a fifth straight league title.

Score 490 Points

Includinge yesterday's games, the Rams this year ran up 490 points as against the 318 scored by Cleveland. But on defense, the Browns allowed their opponents a skimpy 147 while the Rams gave up 323. In all, the Rams won 10 games and lost three. The Browns had an 11-2 mark.

Lou Groza, who well deserves his nickname of "The Toe," helped Cleveland win another yesterday. He kicked two more field goals in windswept Municipal Stadium and the second one, a 29-yarder, broke a 3-3 tie. A last minute safety was not needed. The Giants' lone score came on a 20-yard field goal by Randy Clay.

Los Angeles' great aerial combination of Bob Waterfield and Tom Fears proved too much for the Bears. Three Rams touchdowns came on passes by Waterfield to Fears. Waterfield also had three conversions and a field goal in leading the Rams to their second straight division crown.

Angels Rout Chezzies In Y League, 110-70

Andy Juhl Leads Scorers With 36

Harry's Angels hit with nearly 80 per cent of their shots to drub Chez Emile, 110-70, in Saturday night's Y Basketball League feature on the Y court.

It was never a contest after the redhot Angels ran up a 31-6 margin in the first period. Chezzies eked out a 26-25 edge in the second quarter. The Angels resumed their sharpshooting after the intermission to rack up a 64-38 margin in the last two periods.

Andy Juhl swished the cords for a 36-point blast with 17 fields and a couple of fouls. Ward Dunham hit for 25, Erick Goercke had 20 and East 18 for the Angels.

Champ Holstein and Clark Mains accounted for 36 of the Chez markers, Holstein getting 20 and Mains 16.

Firemen in Romp

With four players hitting double figures, the Esopus Firemen outclassed Hurley, 68-47, after leading 33-20 at the half.

Burger led the Firemen with 15 points. Big Joe Pecora swished 14, while Mains and Hansen each had 13. Sgroi's 10 points led the losers.

Akron Kegler All-Star Champ

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—Dick Hoover of Akron, O., a 200 pounder who turned 21 a few days ago, picked up the $2,000 first prize in the national individual match game bowling windup last night.

Hoover, a warehouse worker and a rookie in the tournament, became the youngest champion in the meet's 10-year history by edging out Detroit's Lee Jouglard 305.29 Petersen points to 304.07.

It was the closest windup since 1947 when Andy Varipapa beat out Joe Wilman in a windup that carried to the last frame.

Hoover, who has scored five perfect games in his brief career and has a 220 average in a Cleveland league, averaged better than 210 pins in winning 36 and losing 28 games in the finals of the individual marathon.

Marion Ladewig, a 36-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., star, retained her women's title. Mrs. Ladewig, who has been bowling 13 years, averaged nearly 200 in 32 games to pile up 151.46 points and $600 first award. She shaded second place Stepanie Balogh of Cleveland by 5.40 points and Pat Striebeck of Indianapolis by 6.97.

Larsen, DuPont Tennis Leaders

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Lefty Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont are the nation's No. 1 amateur tennis players for 1950.

The stormy petrel from the Pacific coast and the steady matron from Wilmington, Del., headed national ratings announced over the week-end by ranking committees of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The rankings still must be approved by the U.S.L.T.A. general meeting here next month but this is routine.

He swept through the upset-studded National championships at Forest Hills, defeating Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the finals.

Flam won the No. 2 position in the rankings followed by Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif. Schroeder was rated No. 2 last year behind Pancho Gonzales, who later turned pro. Patty spent most of his time in Europe and didn't figure in the 1949 list.

Mrs. duPont's top position followed her third straight National championship. She turned back Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., 6-3, 6-3, in the finals at Forest Hills.

Culmone Resumes Quest for Title

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone, the Nation's leading rider, returns to the saddle this afternoon to continue his assault on Walter Miller's all-time riding record set in 1906.

Culmone, who was injured during a two-horse spill at Tropical Park Saturday, was discharged from Jackson Memorial Hospital yesterday. His physician, Dr. John E. Dees, said he would ride again today.

Weaver Leads Army To 68-55 Victory

Scores 13 Points Against St. Lawrence

Ed Weaver made his varsity basketball debut at West Point Saturday, by leading Army to a 68 to 55 victory over St. Lawrence U., before 500 spectators in the field house.

Although playing only half the game, the former K.H.S. and All-DUSO great, registered 13 points to top the Cadets. Capt. Tixier and Frank Fischl, Army football star each had 11 and Gil Reich, another grid great, scored 12 points.

Top men for the Larries were Starke with 19 and Lawrence with 17.

Limited Practice

Weaver didn't start the game and Coach John Mauer said big Ed would need several more practice sessions before he would reach top shape. He had only seven days of practice before Saturday's game.

In spite of his lack of practice, Weaver still uncorked several sizzling shots under the basket. With Army leading by only 51-48 at the 7-minute mark of the second half, Weaver uncorked a driving layup and a hook shot and Reich hit with a set from the corner to put Army out of danger.

Mike Rienzo did not make the trip to the Point with St. Lawrence because of a leg injury sustained in practice. He was listed on the program as a substitute guard for the Larries.

Royals Defeat Recs, 118-105; Woodridge Atoms Play Here Tonight

Tonight's Lineups

Recreations		Woodridge Atoms
L. Holstein	f	Shields

You score 105 points and still get licked!

That was the sad fate of the high scoring Recreation quintet Saturday night in Middletown, when they dropped 118-105 decision to the defending champion Royals.

Unofficially, this was believed to be a record for two teams since the O-S League was organized a couple of years ago.

(Tonight the Recreations engage the powerful, undefeated Woodridge Atoms, with Jackie Stein, Walt Shields, and Joe Novodgrosky, at the municipal auditorium. The Atoms walloped Monticello Saturday night, 95-68, Shields hitting for 36 points and Stein 24. Game time is 8:30 p. m. at the municipal auditorium.)

The Recs' inability to handle Fritz Mueller and Dick Baker again spelled doom against the Royals. Mueller, one of the circuit's leading scorers racked up 35 points and Baker hit for 32. Clemmer tossed in 21 from a guard slot.

Manager Murphy's Recs showed a good distribution of scoring power—12 of the 13 players crashing the score column—but could not come up with a couple of fireballs to cope with Mueller and Baker.

It was a seething battle all the way, with the Recs once overcoming a 16-point deficit to lead 58-57 and later 70-69. A short while later, Mueller and Baker went on a spree that zoomed the Royals to a 82-70 margin and they stayed in front for the remainder of the game.

Charlie Neff, veteran cager who has been conditioning himself slowly, blossomed out as the Recreations' top scorer with 22 points. Three others hit double figures—Andy Juhl with 17, Frank Sass 12 and Big Bill Kleine 10.

Havana Golf To Jim Turnesa

Havana, Dec. 18 (AP)—Fashioning a last round 65 with the help of an eagle and five birdies, Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., member of the famed U. S. golfing family, won the Havana Invitation golf tournament yesterday with a 72-hole total of 267.

Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., had a chance to get Turnesa, but had putting difficulty in the last nine holes and finished second with a 68 and final score of 270. Four of Cooper's putts ringed the cup and failed to drop. One of them actually disappeared from sight then spun out onto the green.

Turnesa missed some close putts, too, but he made enough to win the $1,500 first prize. In addition he won another $1,500 in the pro-amateur competition which ended Friday.

Defending champion Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., shot a blistering eight-under-par 64 to lead the last round, but he gained only a tie for third place at 273 with Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. Barron got a 68 in his last round.

"It was a good day for me," Turnesa said. "I played pretty good golf. The weather was bright and sunny and I had some good luck. My best putt was for about 15 feet on the 16th for a birdie two. My game was good enough that I didn't have to get into a strain."

Turnesa's other birdies came on the first hole, seventh, 12th and 15th. On the par five second, both he and Cooper got eagle three's.

Rams, Browns Win Division Titles; Championship Playoff Next Sunday

Brownies Defeat Giants, 8 to 3

It will be Los Angeles Rams offense against the Cleveland Browns defense when they clash in Cleveland Sunday for the National Football League championship.

In yesterday's divisional playoffs, the Rams won the National conference title by whipping the Chicago Bears, 24-14, before 83,501 customers basking in 92-degree heat at Los Angeles. It was the other extreme at Cleveland where, in 17-degree frigidity, the Browns captured the American Conference crown with an 8-3 triumph over the New York Giants.

Both teams wore sneakers at Cleveland to get a better grip on the hard, frozen field. This contest drew 33,054 shivering fans.

Revenge was sweet for both winners. The Rams had lost their two regular season clashes with the Bears, as had the Browns to the Giants. Cleveland, four-time champion of the defunct All-America Conference, now seeks a fifth straight league title.

Score 490 Points

Includinge yesterday's games, the Rams this year ran up 490 points as against the 318 scored by Cleveland. But on defense, the Browns allowed their opponents a skimpy 147 while the Rams gave up 323. In all, the Rams won 10 games and lost three. The Browns had an 11-2 mark.

Lou Groza, who well deserves his nickname of "The Toe," helped Cleveland win another yesterday. He kicked two more field goals in windswept Municipal Stadium and the second one, a 29-yarder, broke a 3-3 tie. A last minute safety was not needed. The Giants' lone score came on a 20-yard field goal by Randy Clay.

Los Angeles' great aerial combination of Bob Waterfield and Tom Fears proved too much for the Bears. Three Rams touchdowns came on passes by Waterfield to Fears. Waterfield also had three conversions and a field goal in leading the Rams to their second straight division crown.

Andy Juhl Leads Scorers With 36

Harry's Angels hit with nearly 80 per cent of their shots to drub Chez Emile, 110-70, in Saturday night's Y Basketball League feature on the Y court.

It was never a contest after the redhot Angels ran up a 31-6 margin in the first period. Chezzies eked out a 26-25 edge in the second quarter. The Angels resumed their sharpshooting after the intermission to rack up a 64-38 margin in the last two periods.

Andy Juhl swished the cords for a 36-point blast with 17 fields and a couple of fouls. Ward Dunham hit for 25, Erick Goercke had 20 and East 18 for the Angels.

Champ Holstein and Clark Mains accounted for 36 of the Chez markers, Holstein getting 20 and Mains 16.

Akron Kegler All-Star Champ

Chicago, Dec. 18 (AP)—Dick Hoover of Akron, O., a 200 pounder who turned 21 a few days ago, picked up the $2,000 first prize in the national individual match game bowling windup last night.

Hoover, a warehouse worker and a rookie in the tournament, became the youngest champion in the meet's 10-year history by edging out Detroit's Lee Jouglard 305.29 Petersen points to 304.07.

It was the closest windup since 1947 when Andy Varipapa beat out Joe Wilman in a windup that carried to the last frame.

Hoover, who has scored five perfect games in his brief career and has a 220 average in a Cleveland league, averaged better than 210 pins in winning 36 and losing 28 games in the finals of the individual marathon.

Marion Ladewig, a 36-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., star, retained her women's title. Mrs. Ladewig, who has been bowling 13 years, averaged nearly 200 in 32 games to pile up 151.46 points and $600 first award. She shaded second place Stepanie Balogh of Cleveland by 5.40 points and Pat Striebeck of Indianapolis by 6.97.

Larsen, DuPont Tennis Leaders

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Lefty Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont are the nation's No. 1 amateur tennis players for 1950.

The stormy petrel from the Pacific coast and the steady matron from Wilmington, Del., headed national ratings announced over the week-end by ranking committees of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The rankings still must be approved by the U.S.L.T.A. general meeting here next month but this is routine.

Larsen becomes the first southpaw swinger to lead the country's racquet brigade since Johnny Doeg was supreme in 1930.

He swept through the upset-studded National championships at Forest Hills, defeating Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the finals.

Flam won the No. 2 position in the rankings followed by Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif. Schroeder was rated No. 2 last year behind Pancho Gonzales, who later turned pro. Patty spent most of his time in Europe and didn't figure in the 1949 list.

Mrs. duPont's top position followed her third straight National championship. She turned back Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., 6-3, 6-3, in the finals at Forest Hills.

Culmone Resumes Quest for Title

Miami, Fla., Dec. 18 (AP)—Jockey Joe Culmone, the Nation's leading rider, returns to the saddle this afternoon to continue his assault on Walter Miller's all-time riding record set in 1906.

Culmone, who was injured during a two-horse spill at Tropical Park Saturday, was discharged from Jackson Memorial Hospital yesterday. His physician, Dr. John E. Dees, said he would ride again today.

Culmone booted home his 370th winner shortly before the accident and has 12 racing days in which to break or tie Miller's mark of 388 winners in one year.

The sensational 19-year-old Sicilian received a contusion on the head and a bruised left hip when his mount, New Wonder, fell during the fifth race.

Manny Yris, New Paltz's veteran forward, led his club with 14 points and McMann accounted for 13. Frank "Specs" Ebelheiser of Kingston had six points for the winners

Potsdam's top scorer was Molnar with 15 points. Van Orman and Francis each had 13.

Weaver Leads Army To 68-55 Victory

Scores 13 Points Against St. Lawrence

Ed Weaver made his varsity basketball debut at West Point Saturday, by leading Army to a 68 to 55 victory over St. Lawrence U., before 500 spectators in the field house.

Although playing only half the game, the former K.H.S. and All-DUSO great, registered 13 points to top the Cadets. Capt. Tixier and Frank Fischl, Army football star each had 11 and Gil Reich, another grid great, scored 12 points.

Top men for the Larries were Starke with 19 and Lawrence with 17.

Limited Practice

Weaver didn't start the game and Coach John Mauer said big Ed would need several more practice sessions before he would reach top shape. He had only seven days of practice before Saturday's game.

In spite of his lack of practice, Weaver still uncorked several sizzling shots under the basket. With Army leading by only 51-48 at the 7-minute mark of the second half, Weaver uncorked a driving layup and a hook shot and Reich hit with a set from the corner to put Army out of danger.

Mike Rienzo did not make the trip to the Point with St. Lawrence because of a leg injury sustained in practice. He was listed on the program as a substitute guard for the Larries.

Marcantonio Asks Dewey Be Ousted

New York, Dec. 18 (AP) — Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP - N.Y.) asked impeachment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday, 24 hours after the governor had directed the appointment of outgoing Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley to a $16,000 state job.

Hanley's appointment as special counsel to the State Division of Veterans Affairs was announced Saturday by Division Director Leo V. Lanning, who receives $14,000 a year as head of the state agency.

Hanley's newly-created post will start at midnight Dec. 31.

Lanning said he had appointed Hanley "at the suggestion of Governor Dewey."

In his capacity as chairman of the left-wing American Labor Party, Marcantonio made his impeachment demand in telegrams to Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, Democratic minority leaders in the State Legislature.

The telegrams urged Quinn and Steingut "to take steps to impeach Gov. Dewey for alleged violation of Section 775 of the State Penal Law in the matter of the Hanley appointment * * *."

"Dewey has now completed the deal first indicated in the Hanley letter during the recent campaign," Marcantonio wired. "Legislature should act in view of this brazen hawking of nominations and public jobs."

Marcantonio's bid for impeachment of Dewey apparently has only the slimmest chances of success, with Republicans in firm control of the State Legislature. The New York State Constitution provides that impeachment (accusation) must be voted by the Assembly while the Senate and the Court of Appeals judges would form the trial court.

Artists Hold Christmas Party at Art Gallery

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The festive Christmas party which is given annually by the Woodstock Artists Association, was held at the Art Gallery Saturday afternoon. The open house was largely attended and Ethel Magafan, treasurer of the association, reported that during the afternoon four sales were made: A mobile by Edward Chavez; a painting, by Howard Mandel; a mobile by Peter Keep and one of Marianne Appel's amusing calico animals.

The exhibition of small paintings, drawings and craftwork will remain at the gallery until Christmas.

Village Well 'Covered' In Weekly Magazine

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The second Christmas annual edition of Collier's magazine of Dec. 23, might well be named a Woodstock special in that the cover is enhanced by a brilliant watercolor of John Pike's and on the full page spread of color photographs inside is a reproduction of Bill Tuck's photo of Christmas Eve last year on the village green. Prominent in the picture, garbed as troubadours are John Pike, Dave Huffine, Randy Echols and Bill Moore.

Although the background of buildings on a village green in Pike's cover was obviously inspired by another locale, a close similarity exists between the costumes and instruments of the musicians on the cover and the group in the photograph.

Pachner Plans Show

Woodstock, Dec. 18 — William Pachner will have a one-man show at the Ganso Gallery in New York opening Jan. 8. Included in the show will be 14 paintings and a number of selected drawings. The show will be on view through Jan. 31.

Zena School Plays

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The Zena school will present two plays at the Zena Country Club Dec. 21 at 8 p. m. Both of the plays, "The Elf" and "The Christmas Chandle" will be under the direction of Marguerite Mallow.

Card Party Postponed

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The card party previously scheduled at the Odd Fellows' Hall in Bearsville for Jan. 9 has been postponed. The date of the party will be announced later.

Plans Yule Party

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School will hold a Christmas party Friday, Dec. 22, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Mrs. Austin Mecklem and Jerry Jerominek have decorated the nursery for the party. An outside Christmas tree has been provided for the children to decorate this week. Clark Neher donated the use of his shop for the making of the holiday decorations.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 18—Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers will have as their guests over the Christmas holidays their daughter, Miss Nancy Summers, returning from college in Florida; their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Doyle, Miss Gwendolyn A. Summers and Mrs. Annie Summers.

Lester Brower was taken to the Kingston Hospital Saturday night and is now recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perkins have a new granddaughter, Karen Perkins, who was born Dec. 1 in St. Augustine, Fla.

Cornelius V. V. Sewell, Jr., will return this week from Hobart College to spend the Christmas vacation with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fox returned today from Virginia where they went last week to bring their daughter, Susan, home for the holidays.

Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Eleanor Benner, of Needham, Mass., whose engagement to Mrs. Lindin's son, Gregory Lindin, was announced recently.

Grand Union Will Give Week's Pay to Workers

The Grand Union Company is again distributing year-end bonuses amounting to one week's salary for all full-time employes who have been with the company one year. Lansing P. Shield, Grand Union president, made this announcement today.

In addition to these cash bonuses, which have been given for the past several years on the same basis, the company for the first time is presenting a holiday turkey to all employes who have been in Grand Union's employ six months but less than one year. Regular part-time employes who have been with Grand Union a year or more, also will receive turkeys.

'Jury' Called to Meeting

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—A jury of citizens was called to a meeting here today to help solve this knotty question: Should smart college students be deferred from the draft? Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey scheduled the meeting. Some 500 representatives of education, labor and industry, veterans organizations and the press and radio are being asked to help the government make up its mind. Students now can stay in school until the end of the school year. Then, if they're in the top half of their class they may be deferred.

New Head Elected

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner has been elected president of the General Electric Company to suceed Charles E. Wilson, who resigned to head the new defense mobilization board. The GE board of directors elected the 50-year-old Cordiner on Saturday. He had been executive vice president of the company. Cordiner worked his way through Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash., by selling electrical appliances. General Electric, which he now heads, does a $2,000,000,000 business yearly. He was born in Walla Walla.

The average pay increase will be about $3.50 a week. In return, the union agreed to do "everything" possible to sign up unorganized shops to protect the union-shop employers from unfair competition.

Ferry Service Concludes

Edgewater, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—The Edgewater ferry completed its last trip early yesterday after 62 years of service on the Hudson river. The passing of the long-familiar ferry was marked with the traditional tooting of horns and blasting of whistles. A party of 100 Jerseyans broke out a magnum of champagne and toasted the Palisades—last boat to make the trip.

Big Mo Arrives

Sought Cholera Cure

New Delhi, Dec. 18 (AP)—The bodies of hundreds of dead and dying Indians today were reported strewn in roads around a village in Orissa State as cholera raged among seekers of a "divine all cure" medicine distributed by a 12-year-old cowherd. Hundreds of thousands of enthusiasts in the past six weeks have crowded into the little village to get the herbal medicine, which the young cowherd, Nepal Baba, said was given him by divine dispensation. An official committee after an investigation said the medicine was not effective.

Marcantonio Asks Dewey Be Ousted

New York, Dec. 18 (AP) — Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP - N.Y.) asked impeachment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey yesterday, 24 hours after the governor had directed the appointment of outgoing Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley to a $16,000 state job.

Hanley's appointment as special counsel to the State Division of Veterans Affairs was announced Saturday by Division Director Leo V. Lanning, who receives $14,000 a year as head of the state agency.

Hanley's newly-created post will start at midnight Dec. 31.

Lanning said he had appointed Hanley "at the suggestion of Governor Dewey."

In his capacity as chairman of the left-wing American Labor Party, Marcantonio made his impeachment demand in telegrams to Senator Elmer F. Quinn and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, Democratic minority leaders in the State Legislature.

The telegrams urged Quinn and Steingut "to take steps to impeach Gov. Dewey for alleged violation of Section 775 of the State Penal Law in the matter of the Hanley appointment * * *."

"Dewey has now completed the deal first indicated in the Hanley letter during the recent campaign," Marcantonio wired. "Legislature should act in view of this brazen hawking of nominations and public jobs."

Marcantonio's bid for impeachment of Dewey apparently has only the slimmest chances of success, with Republicans in firm control of the State Legislature. The New York State Constitution provides that impeachment (accusation) must be voted by the Assembly while the Senate and the Court of Appeals judges would form the trial court.

Artists Hold Christmas Party at Art Gallery

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The festive Christmas party which is given annually by the Woodstock Artists Association, was held at the Art Gallery Saturday afternoon. The open house was largely attended and Ethel Magafan, treasurer of the association, reported that during the afternoon four sales were made: A mobile by Edward Chavez; a painting, by Howard Mandel; a mobile by Peter Keep and one of Marianne Appel's amusing calico animals.

The exhibition of small paintings, drawings and craftwork will remain at the gallery until Christmas.

Village Well 'Covered' In Weekly Magazine

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The second Christmas annual edition of Collier's magazine of Dec. 23, might well be named a Woodstock special in that the cover is enhanced by a brilliant watercolor of John Pike's and on the full page spread of color photographs inside is a reproduction of Bill Tuck's photo of Christmas Eve last year on the village green. Prominent in the picture, garbed as troubadours are John Pike, Dave Huffine, Randy Echols and Bill Moore.

Although the background of buildings on a village green in Pike's cover was obviously inspired by another locale, a close similarity exists between the costumes and instruments of the musicians on the cover and the group in the photograph.

Pachner Plans Show

Woodstock, Dec. 18 — William Pachner will have a one-man show at the Ganso Gallery in New York opening Jan. 8. Included in the show will be 14 paintings and a number of selected drawings. The show will be on view through Jan. 31.

Zena School Plays

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The Zena school will present two plays at the Zena Country Club Dec. 21 at 8 p. m. Both of the plays, "The Elf" and "The Christmas Chandle" will be under the direction of Marguerite Mallow.

Card Party Postponed

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The card party previously scheduled at the Odd Fellows' Hall in Bearsville for Jan. 9 has been postponed. The date of the party will be announced later.

Plans Yule Party

Woodstock, Dec. 18—The Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School will hold a Christmas party Friday, Dec. 22, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon. Mrs. Austin Mecklem and Jerry Jerominek have decorated the nursery for the party. An outside Christmas tree has been provided for the children to decorate this week. Clark Neher donated the use of his shop for the making of the holiday decorations.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 18—Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers will have as their guests over the Christmas holidays their daughter, Miss Nancy Summers, returning from college in Florida; their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Doyle, Miss Gwendolyn A. Summers and Mrs. Annie Summers.

Lester Brower was taken to the Kingston Hospital Saturday night and is now recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perkins have a new granddaughter, Karen Perkins, who was born Dec. 1 in St. Augustine, Fla.

Mrs. William Y. Boyd and her mother, Mrs. Endsley, will drive to Middleburg, Va., this week to spend the holidays with Col. and Mrs. Jacobs.

Cornelius V. V. Sewell, Jr., will return this week from Hobart College to spend the Christmas vacation with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fox returned today from Virginia where they went last week to bring their daughter, Susan, home for the holidays.

Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Eleanor Benner, of Needham, Mass., whose engagement to Mrs. Lindin's son, Gregory Lindin, was announced recently.

Grand Union Will Give Week's Pay to Workers

The Grand Union Company is again distributing year-end bonuses amounting to one week's salary for all full-time employes who have been with the company one year. Lansing P. Shield, Grand Union president, made this announcement today.

In addition to these cash bonuses, which have been given for the past several years on the same basis, the company for the first time is presenting a holiday turkey to all employes who have been in Grand Union's employ six months but less than one year. Regular part-time employes who have been with Grand Union a year or more also will receive turkeys.

'Jury' Called to Meeting

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—A jury of citizens was called to a meeting here today to help solve this knotty question: Should smart college students be deferred from the draft? Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey scheduled the meeting. Some 500 representatives of education, labor and industry, veterans organizations and the press and radio are being asked to help the government make up its mind. Students now can stay in school until the end of the school year. Then, if they're in the top half of their class they may be deferred.

New Head Elected

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner has been elected president of the General Electric Company to suceed Charles E. Wilson, who resigned to head the new defense mobilization board. The GE board of directors elected the 50-year-old Cordiner on Saturday. He had been executive vice president of the company. Cordiner worked his way through Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash., by selling electrical appliances. General Electric, which he now heads, does a $2,000,000,000 business yearly. He was born in Walla Walla.

Wage Boost Ratified

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A three-year contract, providing wage increases totaling $15,000,000 a year, has been formally ratified for more than 85,000 AFL employes in the ladies' dress manufacturing industry in the New York metropolitan area. The average pay increase will be about $3.50 a week. In return, the union agreed to do "everything" possible to sign up unorganized shops to protect the union-shop employers from unfair competition.

Ferry Service Concludes

Edgewater, N. J., Dec. 18 (AP)—The Edgewater ferry completed its last trip early yesterday after 62 years of service on the Hudson river. The passing of the long-familiar ferry was marked with the traditional tooting of horns and blasting of whistles. A party of 100 Jerseyans broke out a magnum of champagne and toasted the Palisades—last boat to make the trip.

Big Mo Arrives

Sought Cholera Cure

New Delhi, Dec. 18 (AP)—The bodies of hundreds of dead and dying Indians today were reported strewn in roads around a village in Orissa State as cholera raged among seekers of a "divine all cure" medicine distributed by a 12-year-old cowherd. Hundreds of thousands of enthusiasts in the past six weeks have crowded into the little village to get the herbal medicine, which the young cowherd, Nepal Baba, said was given him by divine dispensation. An official committee after an investigation said the medicine was not effective.

Pace Warns

Great Britain are reported prepared to lay down the law to the West German Republic, if necessary, to overcome German objections to their rearmament.

The Germans, who are not represented at the 12-power conference, have objected to joining an International Army unless invited to do so on an equal basis with the other Atlantic Pact members.

East German Socialist Leader Kurt Schumacher, at Dusseldorf last night, said his powerful party would call for a national movement against rearmament if West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer accepts Allied plans.

Deputy foreign ministers and military chiefs of staff of the Atlantic pact signers agreed in London last week to recommend that the European Army include about 130,000 Germans, organized into units of about 5,000 men each, but without heavy weapons or a German general staff.

French Delay Action

The French, who fear a resurgence of German military strength almost as much as they do the Soviet Union, were said to be plumping for a tentative, delaying solution at Brussels shelving the thorny business of German rearmament until after a big four meeting with Russia expected soon.

Except for the German problem, the two-day conference of the Atlantic Pact ministers promised to be mostly a rubber stamp affair.

Blueprints for an Atlantic Pact army have been drafted by political and military experts. These plans, according to reliable sources, call for an army of some 750,000 men plus naval and air arms. It is to be headed by an American commander-in-chief.

The commander's post, to be filled by President Truman at the formal request of the Atlantic Pact Council of Ministers, already is earmarked for General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Ministers to Meet

The pact chiefs are expected to:

1. Approve their military experts' plan for the adequate defense of Europe as far east as possible;

2. Ask President Truman to name a supreme commander for their international army, probably mentioning Gen. Eisenhower by name;

3. Select the site and top personnel for headquarters to be known as the supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe;

4. Agree on what new freedoms can be given west Germany short of full independence as an inducement to join the western defense setup;

To Agree on Paying

5. Agree on ways of paying the staggering cost of the whole defense plane, one of the most ambitious peacetime preparedness programs ever undertaken.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, arriving here from Washington in President Truman's personal plane, told newsmen "we are determined to find a solution" to the problem of defending the west.

Bad weather which closed in the airfield delayed his arrival here several hours, during which he stopped briefly in Prestwick, Scotland, and Paris.

Asked if his determination would hold, even if it meant getting tough with America's European allies and with the Germans, Acheson smiled and repeated: "We are going to find a solution."

Belgian Communists prepared to acknowledge his delayed arrival at Brussels with demonstrations they called against "Warmonger Acheson" at the American embassy and conference headquarters here.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman arrived in Brussels last night. Other ministers attending are from Italy, the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Iceland, Canada, Luxembourg, Portugal, and Belgium.

The cards, which are appreciated and enjoyed by all the patients, are still coming in. McNeill, who conducts a popular morning "Breakfast Club" broadcast, has made a practice of asking his listeners to send cheerful cards to hospitals and sanitoria throughout the country and frequently gives the name and address of such an institution on his program.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Dec. 18 (AP) — Enthusiasm for emergency mobilization brought a roaring buyers' market today in stocks.

Prices leaped up by a few cents to more than $2 a share before falling back moderately.

Higher were Grumman, Consolidated Vultee, Curtiss-Wright, Douglas, Trans-World Airways, United Air Lines, Texas Co., Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, Packard, Goodrich, Philco, Zenith, American Woolen, Wyandotte Worsted, American Can, du Pont, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Pacific Tin, American Smelting, and Consolidated Edison.

The curb market turned upward with trading especially heavy in aircraft, electronics and some of the oils. Higher were American Republics, Cessna Aircraft, Claude Neon, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Fairfield Engine & Aircraft, Louisiana Land, Pancoastal Oil, Piper Aircraft, Raytheon, and U. S. Foil "B."

In the bond market, railroad loans were higher and trading throughout was unusually active. U. S. Governments were about unchanged in the over the counter market.

Mercury Drops to 11 Degrees Early Today

The season's first lasting fall of snow was followed by the coldest day to date today when the mercury hit 11 degrees at 7 a. m., on the thermometer of the city engineer's office.

Colder weather was reported in several areas of the county where temperatures from two to eight degrees were reported. The mercury rose to 25 degrees by 11:15 a. m.

The city engineer's record of snowfall, including the light snow which preceded the Friday storm, is nine inches to date. It brought out city equipment and at 8:30 p. m., Saturday, the public works department notified the police that snow-loaders would be active in the uptown and downtown sections.

The coldest day on record, prior to today, this season, was Dec. 10 when the mercury hit 23 degrees.

Dice Raid Fails; Evidence Lacking

A police report at 4 p. m. Sunday indicated that alleged handlers of the galloping dominos (dice) might have had their own galloping propensities when a squad of police arrived.

Police Capt. William T. Roedell with two sergeants and three patrolmen visited a spot behind Shapiro's Horse Market and Perry's taxi office in the Broadway-Field Court area, but made "no arrests due to the fact that there was not enough evidence to gain a conviction."

The names of 10 alleged "participants" were taken, however, and the group was warned to discontinue such games, the report said.

With Capt. Roedell were Sgts. Robert Murphy and Lemuel Howard and Officers Harry Martin, Kenneth Stratton and Ernest Bartroff.

The game, which police suspected, was supposedly an open-air alley project, but at the time of the raid, as the saying goes, there was "no dice," and none was found in the vicinity.

Quinn Derides Marcantonio Bid

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A demand by left-wing Congressman Vito Marcantonio that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey be impeached drew a sharp rebuff today from the Democratic minority leader in the state Senate.

Sen. Elmer F. Quinn said that Marcantonio's impeachment demand, based on the "Hanley Letter" episode, was "assinine" and that "there was not a chance" of such a move being made.

Marcantonio, lame-duck American Labor Party congressman, voiced the demand yesterday 24 hours after the Republican governor directed the appointment of outgoing Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley to a $16,000 state job.

"Gov. Dewey should be congratulated upon the appointment of Lt. Gov. Hanley whose loyalty can never be challenged," Quinn said. "The people are fortunate in retaining the services of a veteran of two wars and many years of faithful, efficient and valuable experience in his state and nation."

Quinn added he thought Marcantonio's defeat last November "showed the people in his district had impeached him" and that the results "should have shut him up, but I guess it didn't."

Woman Is Crushed

Larchmont, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A woman was crushed to death and three workmen were injured today when the roof and upper walls of a two-story bowling alley building collapsed. The accident occurred a few minutes before a State Labor Department inspector arrived to check safety conditions at the wood and concrete building, which was under repair at the time. The woman, tentatively identified as Mrs. E. Paul Hamilton, of Jackson Heights, Queens, was walking along a sidewalk adjacent to the building when the structure caved in, nearly covering her with rubble. Three workmen were trapped by falling debris on the second floor of the building, "The Larchmont Bowl," 1875 Palmer avenue. A crane was used to extricate them.

Early Settlement Desired

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Hope rose today for an early settlement of the long wage and hour dispute between the nation's railroads and four operating unions. The White House pressed them to come to terms. The pace of negotiations was stepped up even as the effects of a strike by one group involved faded. Some 10,000 yardmen walked off their jobs for three days last week, tying up freight and Christmas mail in key rail terminals, but the jam was clearing rapidly.

Pace Warns

Great Britain are reported prepared to lay down the law to the West German Republic, if necessary, to overcome German objections to their rearmament.

The Germans, who are not represented at the 12-power conference, have objected to joining an International Army unless invited to do so on an equal basis with the other Atlantic Pact members.

East German Socialist Leader Kurt Schumacher, at Dusseldorf last night, said his powerful party would call for a national movement against rearmament if West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer accepts Allied plans.

Deputy foreign ministers and military chiefs of staff of the Atlantic pact signers agreed in London last week to recommend that the European Army include about 130,000 Germans, organized into units of about 5,000 men each, but without heavy weapons or a German general staff.

French Delay Action

The French, who fear a resurgence of German military strength almost as much as they do the Soviet Union, were said to be plumping for a tentative, delaying solution at Brussels shelving the thorny business of German rearmament until after a big four meeting with Russia expected soon.

Except for the German problem, the two-day conference of the Atlantic Pact ministers promised to be mostly a rubber stamp affair.

Blueprints for an Atlantic Pact army have been drafted by political and military experts. These plans, according to reliable sources, call for an army of some 750,000 men plus naval and air arms. It is to be headed by an American commander-in-chief.

The commander's post, to be filled by President Truman at the formal request of the Atlantic Pact Council of Ministers, already is earmarked for General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Ministers to Meet

The defense and foreign ministers were scheduled to meet together in the stately palace of the Brabant provincial government.

The pact chiefs are expected to:

1. Approve their military experts' plan for the adequate defense of Europe as far east as possible;

2. Ask President Truman to name a supreme commander for their international army, probably mentioning Gen. Eisenhower by name;

3. Select the site and top personnel for headquarters to be known as the supreme headquarters of the allied powers in Europe;

4. Agree on what new freedoms can be given west Germany short of full independence as an inducement to join the western defense setup;

To Agree on Paying

5. Agree on ways of paying the staggering cost of the whole defense plane, one of the most ambitious peacetime preparedness programs ever undertaken.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, arriving here from Washington in President Truman's personal plane, told newsmen "we are determined to find a solution" to the problem of defending the west.

Bad weather which closed in the airfield delayed his arrival here several hours, during which he stopped briefly in Prestwick, Scotland, and Paris.

Asked if his determination would hold, even if it meant getting tough with America's European allies and with the Germans, Acheson smiled and repeated: "We are going to find a solution."

Belgian Communists prepared to acknowledge his delayed arrival at Brussels with demonstrations they called against "Warmonger Acheson" at the American embassy and conference headquarters here.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman arrived in Brussels last night. Other ministers attending are from Italy, the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Iceland, Canada, Luxembourg, Portugal, and Belgium.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Dec. 18 (AP) — Enthusiasm for emergency mobilization brought a roaring buyers' market today in stocks.

Prices leaped up by a few cents to more than $2 a share before falling back moderately.

Higher were Grumman, Consolidated Vultee, Curtiss-Wright, Douglas, Trans-World Airways, United Air Lines, Texas Co., Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, Packard, Goodrich, Philco, Zenith, American Woolen, Wyandotte Worsted, American Can, du Pont, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, Pacific Tin, American Smelting, and Consolidated Edison.

The curb market turned upward with trading especially heavy in aircraft, electronics and some of the oils. Higher were American Republics, Cessna Aircraft, Claude Neon, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Fairfield Engine & Aircraft, Louisiana Land, Pancoastal Oil, Piper Aircraft, Raytheon, and U. S. Foil "B."

In the bond market, railroad loans were higher and trading throughout was unusually active. U. S. Governments were about unchanged in the over the counter market.

Mercury Drops to 11 Degrees Early Today

The season's first lasting fall of snow was followed by the coldest day to date today when the mercury hit 11 degrees at 7 a. m., on the thermometer of the city engineer's office.

Colder weather was reported in several areas of the county where temperatures from two to eight degrees were reported. The mercury rose to 25 degrees by 11:15 a. m.

The city engineer's record of snowfall, including the light snow which preceded the Friday storm, is nine inches to date. It brought out city equipment and at 8:30 p. m., Saturday, the public works department notified the police that snow-loaders would be active in the uptown and downtown sections.

The coldest day on record, prior to today, this season, was Dec. 10 when the mercury hit 23 degrees.

Dice Raid Fails; Evidence Lacking

A police report at 4 p. m. Sunday indicated that alleged handlers of the galloping dominos (dice) might have had their own galloping propensities when a squad of police arrived.

Police Capt. William T. Roedell with two sergeants and three patrolmen visited a spot behind Shapiro's Horse Market and Perry's taxi office in the Broadway-Field Court area, but made "no arrests due to the fact that there was not enough evidence to gain a conviction."

The names of 10 alleged "participants" were taken, however, and the group was warned to discontinue such games, the report said.

With Capt. Roedell were Sgts. Robert Murphy and Lemuel Howard and Officers Harry Martin, Kenneth Stratton and Ernest Bartroff.

The game, which police suspected, was supposedly an open-air alley project, but at the time of the raid, as the saying goes, there was "no dice," and none was found in the vicinity.

Quinn Derides Marcantonio Bid

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A demand by left-wing Congressman Vito Marcantonio that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey be impeached drew a sharp rebuff today from the Democratic minority leader in the state Senate.

Sen. Elmer F. Quinn said that Marcantonio's impeachment demand, based on the "Hanley Letter" episode, was "assinine" and that "there was not a chance" of such a move being made.

Marcantonio, lame-duck American Labor Party congressman, voiced the demand yesterday 24 hours after the Republican governor directed the appointment of outgoing Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley to a $16,000 state job.

"Gov. Dewey should be congratulated upon the appointment of Lt. Gov. Hanley whose loyalty can never be challenged," Quinn said. "The people are fortunate in retaining the services of a veteran of two wars and many years of faithful, efficient and valuable experience in his state and nation."

Quinn added he thought Marcantonio's defeat last November "showed the people in his district had impeached him" and that the results "should have shut him up, but I guess it didn't."

Woman Is Crushed

Larchmont, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A woman was crushed to death and three workmen were injured today when the roof and upper walls of a two-story bowling alley building collapsed. The accident occurred a few minutes before a State Labor Department inspector arrived to check safety conditions at the wood and concrete building, which was under repair at the time. The woman, tentatively identified as Mrs. E. Paul Hamilton, of Jackson Heights, Queens, was walking along a sidewalk adjacent to the building when the structure caved in, nearly covering her with rubble. Three workmen were trapped by falling debris on the second floor of the building, "The Larchmont Bowl," 1875 Palmer avenue. A crane was used to extricate them.

Early Settlement Desired

Washington, Dec. 18 (AP)—Hope rose today for an early settlement of the long wage and hour dispute between the nation's railroads and four operating unions. The White House pressed them to come to terms. The pace of negotiations was stepped up even as the effects of a strike by one group involved faded. Some 10,000 yardmen walked off their jobs for three days last week, tying up freight and Christmas mail in key rail terminals, but the jam was clearing rapidly.

Ready for Duty Call

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Karl F. Hausauer, commanding general of the New York National Guard, said yesterday it is ready and willing to be called to active duty. He made the statement following an earlier proposal by the National Guard Association that the nation's entire 300,000-man National Guard be called up. Hausauer said such an action would eliminate the draft of 18-year-olds.

Rental Is Refused

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A Bronx hotel has refused to rent a ballroom for an American Labor party meeting at which Negro singer Paul Robeson was scheduled to get a peace award. Stephen J. White, chairman of the Bronx unit of the left-wing party, said yesterday the Concourse Plaza Hotel had returned a $25 deposit paid on rental of the ballroom for next Wednesday night.

Proposes State Funds

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A Republican legislator proposed today that the state provide funds to help localities set up and maintain recreational programs for older persons. State Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging, said he would introduce a bill in the 1951 Legislature to give localities 10 cents in state aid for each person 60 years of age or older.

Car Prices Go Back

stabilization board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, meets in Washington with union and management representatives.

At that time, one industry spokesman has said, "the industry is going to take every fact at its command to Washington and fight this thing out."

The car producers are contending the price increases they announced were justified because of recent boosts in the price of steel and rubber. GM said the government itself upped the price of synthetic rubber.

Asks Ballots Be Returned

The return of more nominating ballots was urged today by Bert Bishop, chairman of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce election committee. The committee will meet Wednesday night to count the ballots. The 14 persons receiving votes for the office of director will be placed on an election ballot to be sent out later. This morning a total of 133 envelopes containing nominating ballots had been received at the chamber office. This is equal to the final total last year, but only represents a little over one-third of those who are eligible to vote, Bishop observed. There is still time to fill out the ballot and mail it before the votes are counted.

said "certainly we are afraid to come to the door. A person is not even safe in her own home. My husband and I are not leaving our house unles we must."

Diener, waiting for a bus with a companion, Rudolph Heller, 18, felt something "whip through" the rear of his topcoat. An examination showed a bullet had ripped through the back of the coat.

The two youths told police they saw a dark coupe speed away in the direction of the house where Mrs. Cohen was shot

Rosenberg said the description of the car given by Diener and Heller matched reports from some of the other victims of mysterious assaults. A police teletype identified the car as a late model, dark-colored car with a "sloping back" and "very shiny license plates."

Ready for Duty Call

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Karl F. Hausauer, commanding general of the New York National Guard, said yesterday it is ready and willing to be called to active duty. He made the statement following an earlier proposal by the National Guard Association that the nation's entire 300,000-man National Guard be called up. Hausauer said such an action would eliminate the draft of 18-year-olds.

Rental Is Refused

New York, Dec. 18 (AP)—A Bronx hotel has refused to rent a ballroom for an American Labor party meeting at which Negro singer Paul Robeson was scheduled to get a peace award. Stephen J. White, chairman of the Bronx unit of the left-wing party, said yesterday the Concourse Plaza Hotel had returned a $25 deposit paid on rental of the ballroom for next Wednesday night.

Proposes State Funds

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 18 (AP)—A Republican legislator proposed today that the state provide funds to help localities set up and maintain recreational programs for older persons. State Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging, said he would introduce a bill in the 1951 Legislature to give localities 10 cents in state aid for each person 60 years of age or older.

Car Prices Go Back

stabilization board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, meets in Washington with union and management representatives.

At that time, one industry spokesman has said, "the industry is going to take every fact at its command to Washington and fight this thing out."

The car producers are contending the price increases they announced were justified because of recent boosts in the price of steel and rubber. GM said the government itself upped the price of synthetic rubber.

Asks Ballots Be Returned

The return of more nominating ballots was urged today by Bert Bishop, chairman of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce election committee. The committee will meet Wednesday night to count the ballots. The 14 persons receiving votes for the office of director will be placed on an election ballot to be sent out later. This morning a total of 133 envelopes containing nominating ballots had been received at the chamber office. This is equal to the final total last year, but only represents a little over one-third of those who are eligible to vote, Bishop observed. There is still time to fill out the ballot and mail it before the votes are counted.

Philadelphia

said "certainly we are afraid to come to the door. A person is not even safe in her own home. My husband and I are not leaving our house unles we must."

Police described that shortly before Mrs. Cohen was shot Saturday night, a 17-year-old youth, John Diener, was fired at by a mysterious assailant.

Diener, waiting for a bus with a companion, Rudolph Heller, 18, felt something "whip through" the rear of his topcoat. An examination showed a bullet had ripped through the back of the coat.

The two youths told police they saw a dark coupe speed away in the direction of the house where Mrs. Cohen was shot

Rosenberg said the description of the car given by Diener and Heller matched reports from some of the other victims of mysterious assaults. A police teletype identified the car as a late model, dark-colored car with a "sloping back" and "very shiny license plates."

The service was conducted by the Society of the National Shrine of the Bill of Rights.
